

The book cover features a light-colored, heavily textured paper with a wavy, marbled pattern. A decorative border is embossed into the paper, consisting of horizontal and vertical lines with ornate, scroll-like flourishes at the corners and midpoints. In the upper left quadrant, there is a dark blue shield-shaped label with a white border. The label contains the title 'The Speedometer' in a white serif font, with 'The' in a smaller, italicized font above 'Speed-'. The word 'ometer' is written vertically below 'Speed-'. To the left of the vertical text is a dollar sign ($) and to the right is a pound sign (£).

PORTAGE—paths of Red Men on the trail—seeking life—heralds of great days following;

Portage—paths to homes of pioneers — strong in body, mind, and soul—strong in vision, hope, and deed;

Portage—paths to mills and shops and stores—paths to forests, farms, and mines;

Portage—paths to lakes and streams and hills—nature's playgrounds * * *

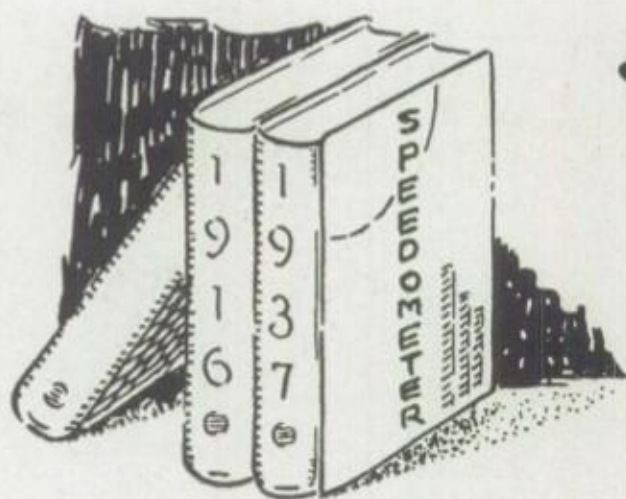

* * * beckoning;

Portage—paths to church and school—to Learning—paths to Opportunity.

Portage—paths to Work and Play, To Life!
Portage, path to Life!

Portage County, highway for primitive man, has become a highway for the nation, the center of an industrial empire, a leader in the field of education and child welfare
May Portage continually be a path that leads to greater days!

The Speedometer becomes of age

$$7 + 7 + 7 = 21$$

$$3 \times 7 = 21$$

LET us turn our "Speedometer" back to the starting point. It was in 1916 that six schools conceived the idea of consolidating their efforts in the production of a yearbook. The Sextette represented Charlestown, Brady Lake, Franklin, Freedom, Paris, and Ravenna Township. Mr. C. A. Helm, district superintendent, was editor-in-chief; and Mr. J. B. Hanan, principal of Ravenna Township School, was editor.

The purpose was stated by Mr. H. B. Turner, county superintendent, as follows: "This book aims to be a permanent record of the school life of the supervisory district. To turn to these pages in after years and find preserved here so many things that would otherwise slip out of memory will be a pleasure — This book aims to make a valuable contribution to the unity of the supervision district—This book is issued in the hope that it will hasten the day when artificial boundaries may be disregarded."

In 1937 the Speedometer becomes of age. It has developed and expanded as have the educational systems of our county. Today, it contributes to the unity of twenty-three communities instead of six. May we ever go onward!

Appreciation

MANY people working behind the scenes have given Portage County a system of schools upon which one can look with pride. Under the leadership of Mr. Rausch, the county superintendent, administrative committees and the professional staff have spent many hours of work in order to keep our system progressive.

The county Board of Education, in cooperation with local boards, has always endeavored to raise our standard. Credit is due them for their accomplishments; especially, since the work is done at a great personal sacrifice of time and thought with no material remuneration.

Another essential group is the executive council of the county Parent-Teacher Association. This group represents the local associations in twenty-one townships. Through their work have come very favorable results.

It is to these several groups, which have contributed so much of time and effort, that we dedicate the 1937 Speedometer.

Calvin P. Rausch

As a mirror reflects the faces of those who come before it, so do the schools of a community reflect the hopes and ideals of the people of that community. Certainly, as heredity determines the make-up of the individual, so do the characteristics of the people of a community presage the ambitions of the school within its borders.

We teachers and administrators who are responsible for the details of the actual functioning of the schools recognize, with a great deal of gratification, the help received from the hosts of people who both as individuals and as members of groups have always stood ready and willing. We are deeply conscious of the fact that without this help, such progress would not have been possible.

Opportunity begets responsibility, and we would caution those individuals who are in positions of leadership and trust that education is an investment primarily for the future. The value of our school boys and girls today as future citizens is going to be determined not only by the heredity of each of the individuals, but very largely by the breadth and depth of the school program of today.

Our program, however, is not for the present but its full import will not be realized for many years, or until the present school citizens become citizens active in the democracy. Our today's foundations and plans must be in light of our future possible needs. The accuracy with which we prognosticate the future and the zeal with which we build will determine the effectiveness of our program.

Private whims and prejudices have no place in an impartial project such as school planning and progress. Personal jealousy and selfishness will never help to build an enduring program of any kind. The lethargy of non-interest is deadly to any democratic organization.

We are appreciative, then, of the assistance of our co-workers—the fathers and mothers of today—whether they be board of education members, parent-teacher association officers, or only active members of these or any other groups of our common interest.

Our only care is that we may continue to receive their sincere, thoughtful, and unselfish support; not in behalf of those who plan and toil, but in the interest of those for whom we all strive—the men and women of tomorrow.

THE SCHOOLMASTERS' CLUB

Led by Mr. K. H. McFall, the men teachers of Portage County organized the Schoolmasters' Club in November, 1931. Their purpose was to develop closer social contacts and to stimulate and maintain the professional interests of the schoolmen of the county.

The club has proved to be quite an active organization and has experienced a steady growth. Its main trouble now seems to be in finding a place that can adequately accommodate all the members. The meetings this year have been well attended, usually averaging forty-five to fifty men at each gathering.

The group meets regularly on the second Thursday of the month at a centrally located point where a banquet is served.

Among the program features so far this year have been an interesting "sports-travel" talk by Professor Cannon of Hiram; an educational motion picture, "Life Begins"; and a challenging address in the interests of music by Mr. Lynn Dana of the Dana School of Music in Warren.

The Schoolmasters' Club, in addition to developing a good social atmosphere in the county, has done much to integrate the various interests of schools of the county by bringing them closer together in a more complete understanding. The spirit is high!

Fred E. Bale, Secretary.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS' CLUBS

The Elementary Teachers' Clubs, organized in three different groups, met for joint programs this year. The groups then separated for discussion so that the problems could be confined to particular grades and therefore be of more vital interest. The smaller groups promoted a freer exchange of ideas and closer acquaintance.

The first meeting was held at the Ravenna Township School in October. Probate Judge George McClelland addressed the group on the subject "Responsibility of the School toward Character Training."

During the separate sessions these officers, having been elected at the final meeting last year, began their duties: Senior Elementary Club, Leoda Davidson, president; Ruth Myers, vice-president; Mabel Unger, secretary-treasurer. Third-Fourth Grade Club: Thelma Wagoner, president; First-Second Grade Club, Elizabeth Lewis, president. The officers of vice-president and secretary-treasurer in the Third-Fourth Club were filled at a later meeting by the election of Marguerite Walker and Ruth Owen, respectively. A social period concluded the evening and friendships were renewed over refreshments served in the Halloween spirit.

The clubs next met in January as the guests of the Charlestown teachers. The Third-Fourth Grade Club in charge of the program presented as guest speaker, Miss Agra Ruffer, Off-Campus Supervisor of practice teaching at Kent State Training School. Miss Ruffer gave suggestions for social science units and their correlation with the subjects of the first six grades.

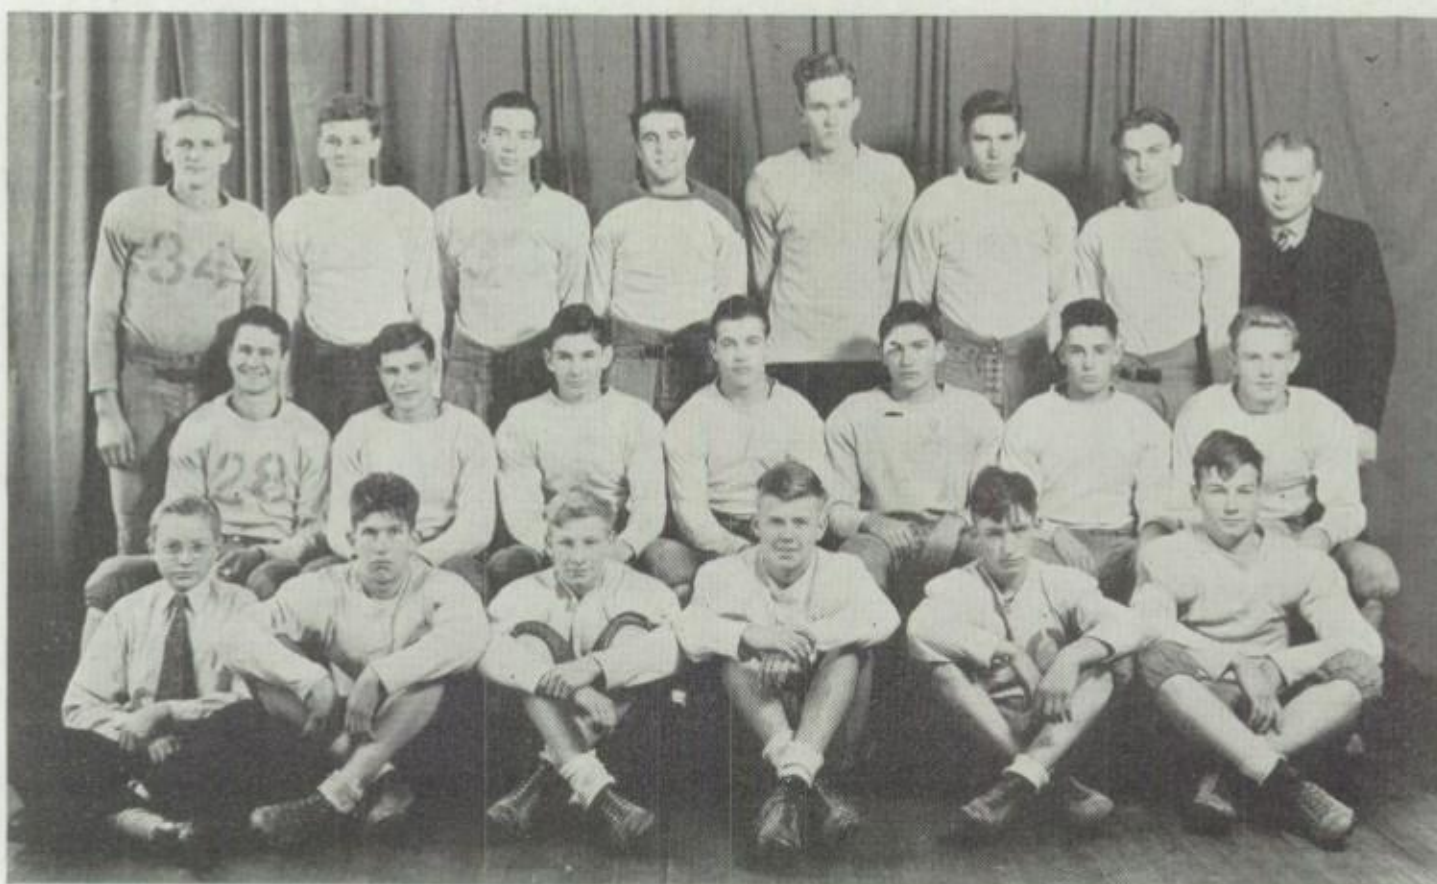

In February the groups again visited the Ravenna Township School. The First-Second Grade Club presented Dr. Ray T. Odell in a lecture on the eyes illustrated by a motion picture on Sight Saving.

The highlight of the year came on the evening of March 22, when the teachers of Portage County were invited to join with the Elementary Clubs in a dinner meeting, served at the Masonic Temple in Ravenna. The program included an address by Dorothy Fuldheim.

The April meeting arranged by the Senior Elementary Club ended the activities of the year—a year that returned dividends to those who gave of their time and interest.

ATHLETICS

County Football Champions — Aurora

The Athletic Committee has tried to follow the procedure of other years and, at the same time, make what changes it felt were necessary.

One change has been the playing for the football championship between the north and south leagues. The highest percentage team of the south loop played the highest percentage team of the north for the football championship. This experiment has proved very successful and will be continued next year. If our tentative plans materialize, an all-county band will perform at the play-off next fall.

Our basket ball league was divided into the north and south leagues as last year. No county championship was awarded. The tournament winner was presented with a county trophy. Basket ball has had one of its best seasons. Sportmanship displayed by the coaches and payers marks an improvement in relationships.

The tournaments were exciting and very well attended. Playing games over a longer period has increased the interest, and has resulted in better tournaments.

Track and Field Day, which at one time was the big day in Portage County, showed a marked sign of improved organization. The competition was keener than usual and a larger crowd was in attendance.

The Committee has enjoyed its work with the coaches and principals and wishes them many more successful years in the future.

DRAMA

The spotlight of county activities shifts yearly from athletics to drama. This year the color wheel was centered on Charlestown where the county one-act play contest was held April 16.

Preceding the county contest, as in previous years, the county was divided into districts. The district contests were held on the most centrally located schools whose facilities were competent.

In order to keep competition confined to acting and interpretation, all of the plays were presented before a cyclorama with a minimum amount of stage properties. The host school in every instance interpreted hospitality in its highest meaning.

Recognition was made of the schools winning the district contest. A plaque was presented to the county winner.

Each year the number of entrants has increased in the drama contest. Perhaps the curtain on next year's contest will rise on a contest involving all the schools.

Jeanette Riddle.

DEBATE

Interest in debate in the Portage county schools has taken an encouraging trend. Time is an element when teachers' schedules are already heavy. However, in considering the relative value of the many extra-curricular activities which draw upon the teacher's time, more and more the balance swings toward the forensic activities, and especially debate.

Randolph High School belonged to the Ohio State Debate League and Paris belongs to the National Forensic. A debate tournament held at Ravenna City High School on March 20 replaced the old form of debate schedules. This plan met with popular approval and is another factor in the encouragement of debate.

A debate clinic was held at Aurora High School on February 18th. The speech department of Western Reserve University cooperated in making this a successful event. The student representatives who were present at this clinic heard discussion on the values, techniques, and styles of debate. They had an opportunity to participate in a debate before a critic judge. Two college teams debated the national high school question: Resolved: that all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated.

It is the hope of your committee on debate that student interests will find encouragement, and that another year there will be more schools entering the State Debate League, the National Forensic, and the county debate tournament.

Wade McConnell.

SCHOLARSHIP

Since the foundation of the first institution of learning the quality of that learning has been of prime importance. That scholarship has passed through various stages of interpretation is quite obvious. From its once restricted meaning, bare commitment of fact, to its present expanded state, it has always been associated with schools.

It is most unfortunate that a few radicals in the educational world have forgotten scholarship in a wild rush for character education. Scholarship and character are inseparable. Character without attention to the quality of one's activity is impossible. The quality of work done in school and out is a most significant factor in character development.

Whatever the task an individual tackles, it should be done well, whether it be the digging of a ditch or the preparation of a Latin assignment.

Scholarship is not alone concerned with fact but also with associated meanings and activities. Facts however, are essential to scholarship since they furnish a basis for the superstructure.

Through various tests and contests the State has attempted to stimulate scholarship in the schools of Ohio. While it is true all may not reach the heights, a goal has always been the inspiration of mankind.

M. L. Johnson.

MUSIC

County Chorus

To inspire a love for the beautiful and to create a taste for good music during the formative years of a child's development; to help make his life more complete and joyous; to provide the training that will make his leisure hours more wholesome and pleasant;—these are the objectives of the program of music instruction in the Portage County Schools. To this end, the music teachers of the county, under the leadership of Mr. Albert Perkins, have organized the most far-reaching county music activity yet attempted.

At the beginning of the year, the schools of the county were invited to submit the qualifications of their most talented students, and from these lists were selected a chorus of 155 voices, and an orchestra of 70 pieces. Rehearsals have been held every other Friday afternoon at Ravenna Township School under the supervision of the Music Teachers' Club.

The committee was very fortunate in securing Professor George Howerton of Hiram College to conduct the chorus, and Mr. A. Hoyte Godfrey of Kent, to conduct the orchestra. These men have been remarkably successful in building the groups into music organizations of which Portage County can be justly proud.

The County Music Committee is sponsoring two types of concerts this year. During the week of March 29, there will be held several district festivals. A number of schools will participate in each festival, which will be held at a central point in the district. Each school will present a fifteen minute program of group vocal and instrumental numbers of its own choosing.

There will also be an All-County Music-Literary event, to be held at Kent State Auditorium on April 30. The evening will be devoted to musical numbers presented by the All-County Orchestra and Chorus, and two debates and one-act plays sponsored by the County Debate and Drama Committee.

The orchestra will present selections from the Rubank Symphonette Orchestra Folio, and the Mosaic Overture, by Carl Fischer, arranged by Sereby. The All-County Chorus will sing, "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heav'nly Light," by Bach; "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," arranged by Dunhill; "It Cannot Be A Strange Countree," Repper; "Rantin', Rovin', Robin'," by Samsel; and "Pale Moon" by Logan.

It is planned to use the best of the evening's program for a broadcast to be presented over station W. A. D. C. later in the spring.

Margaret Hubbell.

Audio-Visual Education

Another school year is rapidly drawing to a close. The audio-visual education program, which a year ago seemed destined to mark another mile-stone in the progress of our county school system, appears to have made little gain.

One wonders why. Is it because parents fail to realize the possibilities of audio-visual education as a tool in the education of the youth of today? Is it because boards of education put equipment cost above effective teaching results? Is it because — quoting Dr. Glen Frank — "teachers are either blind to progress or simply scared lest the film become too vivid a competitor to mediocre teaching?"

Audio-visual education makes its appeal to the two senses, hearing and seeing, through which we receive the majority of the experiences that form the background of our education. Audio-visual education is not an untested fad of the present day educator, but a teaching tool, which when properly used, has proved itself. Tests, conducted during the past several years between comparable groups of students studying the same subject matter, show that where educational sound films are used the students learn twenty percent more, and on recall tests do thirty percent better than students who do not have the advantage of sound films. This result is true of all levels of intelligence.

No program that will better enable the teacher to teach and the student to learn should be kept from our schools. Its possibilities are unlimited and its effectiveness unquestioned. Let the audio-visual education program go on!

Leland C. Keller.

4-H CLUB WORK

The 4-H clubs of Portage county have for many years been an integral part of the educational system of the county. The meaning of the name 4-H club is characterized by the official emblem, a four-leaf clover with an "H" in each leaf, standing for Head, Heart, Hand, and Health, indicating the four-fold educational program.

Since the activities of the 4-H clubs in the various communities are for the most part carried on during the summer months, the 4-H program tends to supplement, rather than compete with the school programs. Each 4-H club is a part of the national 4-club program sponsored by the Extension Service of the various state colleges of agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. While the 4-H program in the county is supervised by the county agricultural agent and the home demonstration agent, the leadership and teaching of the individual club members is a responsibility of the 76 voluntary advisers and assistants in the various communities.

In 1936 thirteen 4-H members were selected to represent Portage county 4-H clubs in the competitive activities at the Ohio State Junior Fair. The following is a list of these contestants and the activities in which they engaged:

Girls' Demonstration Teams:

Nutrition

Ruth Holb—Atwater Township
Betty Sajben—Atwater Township

Etiquette

Edith Wood—Shalersville Township
Harriet Mills—Shalersville Township

Boys' Demonstration Team:

David Cook—Franklin Township
Harold Sapp—Franklin Township

Boys' Single Demonstration:

Fred Knopf—Aurora Township

Health Contestants:

Edson Hurd—Aurora Township
Maxine Hartman—Randolph Township

Style Revue:

Harriet Maines—Palmyra Township

Dairy Judging Team:

Max Bordner—Charlestown Township
Eugene Kyser—Nelson Township
Eddie Evans—Paris Township

In addition to the Ohio State Junior Fair two members were selected on the basis of their past activities in 4-H club work to represent the county at the Ohio Club Congress held at Ohio State University in September. The two members receiving this, the highest honor awarded 4-H club members in the county, were Grace Newman of Streetsboro Township and Elmer Gemberling of Franklin Township.

The following clubs received the honor of having 100% of their member complete their projects for 1936:

Hiram Clothing Club—Adviser, Mrs. Muriel Monroe

Streetsboro Clothing Club—Adviser, Mrs. O. M. Thomas; Assistant Adviser—Marie Thomas

Streetsboro Etiquette Club—Adviser, Mrs. L. G. Bosworth

Palmyra Clothing Club—Adviser, Mrs. George Maines; Assistant Adviser—Mrs. Willard Bebb

Windham Sr. Clothing Club—Advisers, Elaine and Thelma McManus

Windham Jr. Clothing Club—Adviser, Grace Shively

St. Joseph's Clothing Club—Adviser, Lillian L. Boesel

St. Joseph's Nutrition Club—Adviser, Lillian L. Boesel

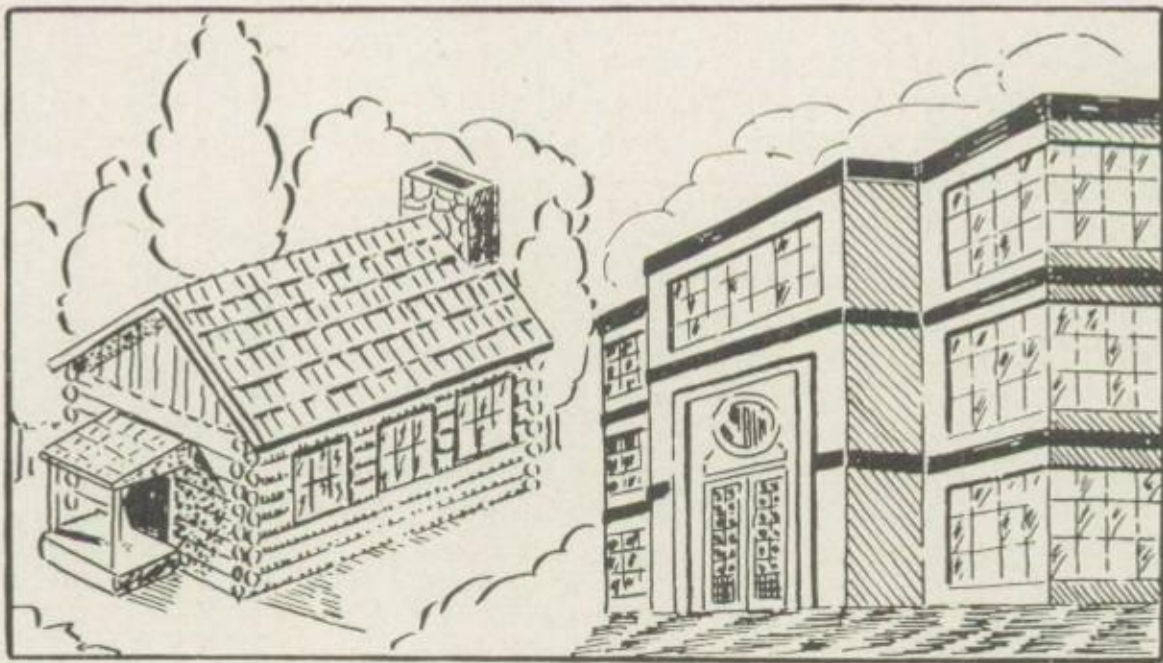

Franklin Nutrition Club—Adviser, Myrtle Lemmermen

Franklin Club, "The Finders"—Adviser, Myrtle Lemmermen; Assistant Adviser—George Halachoff

During the summer of 1936, 725 club members completed a total of 734 projects. In addition to the one or more projects carried by each individual member, the various clubs received practice and training in organization leadership and community service.

BRADY LAKE

The teaching staff at Brady Lake School at the beginning of the year 1936-37 was as follows: Jewel McGuigan, first and second grades; Ellen Stauffer, second and third grades; Olive Myers, fourth and fifth grades; in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, which are departmentalized, were James Shoop, Audrey Moore, and Harold W. Short, principal. A. Hoyer Godfrey again served as instrumental music teacher.

Under the guidance of these teachers 175 enrolled students took up their year's work. At mid-year, faculty and students alike were sorry to have to lose their friend and teacher, Mr. James Shoop, who decided to enter the business field in preference to continuing in the professional one of teaching. The vacancy was ably filled by Mr. Carl Meeker of Kent, Ohio, who obtained his degree from Ohio State University.

During the summer, the school custodian, Mr. T. A. Keller, had been busy directing the work of painters, plasterers, etc. Schoolrooms were redecorated, repairs were made, and best of all, the school auditorium was completely redecorated, dark walls were turned into ivory, and darker ceiling into French blue. Color combination and work was entirely under Mr. Keller's direction, and the results were pleasing, to say the least.

Board of education members, chosen by the voters to supervise the school's activities, are as follows: Mr. Wm. A. Manfrass, president, Mr. John Beckwith, Mr. Harry Clyde, Mr. H. F. Green, and Mr. Frank Palmer. The clerk of the board is Mrs. Winifred Beckwith.

An exhibit of the students' work was made at the Randolph Fair this year. The school was proud to learn that it had gained several honors in this competition; first for a map of Portage County, first for project work in history, second for junior high foods, second for toy and elementary wood work, and second for a map of the United States.

The school library was improved by the addition of the following books: sets of Carpenter's "World Travels," Nature Library, Junior Bookshelf, Travel and Adventure Library for Young Folks, Doubleday "Encyclopedia," Lincoln Library, and Richard's Encyclopedia.

The fourth and fifth grades made an interesting sight-seeing tour of several Akron business concerns. Under the direction of Miss Myers they visited the Quaker Oats Company, WJW Radio Station, the Akron Pure Milk Company, the Akron Beacon Journal Building, and Perkins Park. At the end of an arduous day, teacher and students returned home, tired but very pleased and happy for their tour.

The student body has enjoyed several educational shows and lectures this year, among which were Arnold Massino's trained animals, C. F. Bowsher's illustrated travel lectures, and Henry Myers and his Venetian glass blowers. A timely account of the Myers family in a Sunday newspaper aroused much interest in the glass blowing art and first graders to eighth graders were all enthusiastic about the show.

The Parent-Teachers' Association with Mrs. Raymond Ruggles, president; Mrs.

Fourth-Fifth Grades

Second-Third Grades

George Towner, vice-president; Mrs. George Beal, secretary; Mrs. Everett Sellman, treasurer; and Mrs. Wm. A. Manfrass, head of the program committee, has been very active this year. A supper-bazaar with peep-shows, bingo, and a fish-pond was held at the school. This netted a nice nest-egg for the P. T. A. pocket-book and provided a good time for the large number of people who attended.

P. T. A. programs, directed by Mrs. Manfrass, have brought many fine speakers to the school platform this year. In an Armistice Day address, Mr. Wade McConnell of Aurora, Ohio gave us "The Unknown Soldier Speaks." Judge McClelland of Ravenna addressed the January meeting with a talk about juvenile delinquency. At an earlier meeting A. N. Lawson of Kent gave an excellent illustrated travel lecture on many interesting people and places encountered in his world-wide travels especially in South America and the Far East. At the March meeting Rev. Dale Humbert of Ravenna showed us many interesting objects and costumes which he collected on his recent journey to the Holy Land. Vividness was added to his description of these things by use of slides and moving pictures. Music, dancing, poems, etc., by various children added a touch of merriment to the sobriety of the speeches at each meeting. Attendance by members, friends and visitors has been unusually good because of the mild winter.

All in all, Brady Lake School has enjoyed a fine year. The cooperation of teachers, parents and children has been splendid, and friendliness and good will has permeated the activities of everyone concerned.

Four new teachers greeted us when school opened in September. They were Miss Janet Knott in the junior high school, and Miss Leoda Davidson, Miss Dorothy Brown, and Miss Esther Miller in grades six, four, and one respectively. The other members of the faculty, Miss Hubbell, Miss Briggs, Miss Schreckengost, Miss Luke, Mr. Payne and Mr. Cowan are old friends, and we were glad to welcome them back.

As usual, emphasis has been placed on scholarship, but we have experienced a very happy year, also. Our club work has prospered, and we have enjoyed numerous parties, trips and athletic contests.

The "Little Women's" Club has enjoyed an especially beneficial year under the leadership of its sponsor, Miss Hubbell, and its president, Betty Chamberlain. They have had profitable meetings with interesting speakers, entertainments and parties. They have undertaken a sewing project under the direction of Miss Hubbell.

In the spring, they will honor their mothers and friends at their annual program-tea, and enjoy an all-day excursion by bus, as is their custom.

The Girls' Glee Club, directed by Miss Knott has studied conscientiously and will participate in the district music festival, and put on an operetta in the spring.

We are now planning an all-school exhibit and several entertainments to earn money for library books.

The Mothers' Circle, under the leadership of Mr. H. M. Morrow, has contributed materially to the welfare of the school both by their moral support, and by financial help.

Last year's fair was so successful and earned so much money for playground equipment that the mothers are undertaking another money-earning project this spring. The mothers also sponsor a kindergarten in the summer.

Our athletic program under the direction of Mr. Cowan and Miss Knott has been extended this year and will be culminated by a play-ground exhibit and field day. A tennis court and other play-ground equipment will be installed this spring.

The Roll of Best Citizens includes: James Griggy, Nancy Guthrie, Irene McCormick, Marion Kuss, Joyce Boosinger, Bruce Rhoades, Mary Lou Waltz, Virginia

FRANKLIN TWP.

The activities in Franklin School for the year 1936-37 have been centered about the English program. Reading charts upon which pupils are given recognition for each book read have prominent places in the rooms. Often an oral or a written report is given by the pupil after the book has been read. Some of these reports are given as "teasers" so the children will want to read the book. Many of these books are Ohio State Pupils Reading Circle books of this or previous years. Last year which was the fourth year that we had used the Reading Circle books, a large percent of the pupils received diplomas. This year several grades will have one hundred percent of its pupils receive certificates, seals or diplomas.

The seventh and eighth grades have been interested in several English projects. Each grade has organized English clubs which have charge of the library books and prepare programs consisting of plays, original dramatizations, book reviews, and reading. They have chosen also editorial staffs to have charge of the publication of the school paper, "The Franklin News." The seventh grade issued the first number at Christmas time. The eighth grade will publish the commencement number. Pupils throughout the school are encouraged to contribute material for the paper. The spelling club finds time to do some definite work.

Mrs. Lemmerman, advisor for the 4-H Clubs of Franklin Township, has organized a cooking and a sewing club, consisting of girls from grades five to eight, inclusive. They meet Wednesday during the lunch period at the schoolhouse. The girls get a great deal of pleasure as well as instruction at these meetings.

Those who are on the Honor Roll by making an average of B or more for the first semester are: Shirley Queen, grade one; Drex Ayres, Gerhard Bechler, Barbara Boettler, Ida May Diener, Lillian Frankovich, and Mary Hinderschied, grade two; Evelyn Buckley, Orrin Crosser, Barbara Shepherd, and Thelma Trumphour, grade three; Russel Ake, Pearl Buckley, Marie Deliner, Stephanie Drawlulich, Patty Woodburn, grade four; Charlotte Green, and Stanley Trumphour, grade five; June Hill, grade six; Lucille Ake, Mary Jean Anderson, Grace Coup and Myrtle Green, grade seven; Bill Carpenter, Roberta Ensinger, Dorothy Henry, Muriel Hill and Eleanor Stutzman, grade eight.

Pupils who have perfect attendance for the semester are: David Hergenroder, Carl Prats, Richard Scott, grade one; Bette Shepherd, grade two; Raymond Paulus, Barbara Shepherd, Anita Thorpe, third grade; Russel Ake, Stephanie Drawkulich, Joe Prats and Patty Woodburn, grade four; Stanley Trumphour, grade five; Mildred Fought, Virginia Fought and Merle Sapp, grade six; Mary Katherine Darrah, Eva Drawkulich, Roberta Ensinger, Dorothy Henry, and Jimmie Trumphour, grade eight.

Mrs. Ruth Dessum teaches music and Mr. Paul Boyle has had charge of the physical education in grades seven and eight.

The members of the school board are: G. M. Rufener, President; Ned Miller, Vice-President; W. A. Apley, Clerk; C. W. Gemberling, C. E. Swigart and Charles Boettler. Mr. Charles Boettler is completing the unexpired term of his father, P. T. Boettler, who died in December. Mr. Boettler had been a member of the school board for over twenty years.

SHALERSVILLE TWP.

For the first time Shalersville School opened its doors to greet a fourth year high school graduating class. During the summer of 1936 carpenters and painters renovated the entire building. Through the cooperation of the members of the board of education and teachers additions were made to the library, manual training, commercial, home economics, and science departments. A large staff of teachers was employed, and many more subjects were added to the students' curriculum in order to qualify us for a four year high school. Thus for the first time our students really have a choice of subjects from which to select their year's program.

Many new teachers welcomed the 240 students. The faculty consists of Principal T. O. Griffiths, Latin, mathematics; Ethel Etling Matthews, English, dramatics, physical education; Kenneth Hansen, mathematics, science, industrial arts; Ella May Dudley, commercial, home economics; George N. Converse, social science; Mildred Wise, fifth and sixth; Verna Dowler, third and fourth; Lurlin Peterson, first and second.

The senior play was the first outstanding event of the year. Under the direction of Ethel Matthews "Chintz Cottage" was presented to a large and appreciative audience in November. The seniors' ambition is a trip to Washington in the spring.

Clifford Beckwith won the local bronze medal for the Prince of Peace Contest. He represented Shalersville at the County District Contest at Garrettsville.

Early in the year both girls' and boys' baseball teams were organized. Games were played with nearby schools as long as the weather permitted.

In spite of the severe handicap of very poor gymnasium conditions the Shalersville boys' and girls' basket ball teams have set an example of persistent effort, diligent practice, and sportsmanship worthy of comment and praise.

The P. T. A. was organized early in the year with Mrs. Harriet Mills, president; Mrs. Verde Kline, vice-president; Mrs. Lurlin Peterson, secretary and treasurer; Mr. James Kline, pianist. Each month a very interesting program and meeting has been held. The P. T. A. One-Act Play Night was one of the high-lights of the year with the parents, teachers, and pupils each presenting a one-act play. The school children have enjoyed the magazines subscribed for by the P. T. A. Appropriate magazines were given to each room. Plans are being made in regard to playground equipment which the P. T. A. members wish to purchase.

Again as last year we are proud of our school cafeteria under the able direction of Mrs. Biltz and Mrs. Lang. Townspeople, as well as teachers and pupils, have enjoyed our economical, tasty lunch selections during the entire year.

Alice Devos Harriet Mills Margaret Murlin Rose Wetshtein Mildred Ensinger (no picture)

We have only our five girl graduates for this first graduating class. Our hopes are that the renewed incentives of variety of activities and curriculum subjects will prove to be an inspiration for larger senior classes.

Greetings and introductions eagerly exchanged between students and teachers last September were the formal announcements that school had once more been resumed. From the tenor of the opening days of school, it was apparent that this new year would be characterized by the same strides of progress which had marked those preceding.

The triumvirate around which the current school program was built was—program of studies, extra-curricular activities, and social adjustment and guidance for the pupil. New subjects were added to the curriculum to provide a range of wider selection for the pupils. Old extra-curricular activities were revamped to fit the pupil. The curriculum supplemented by activities was the medium used to obtain the social adjustment and guidance of the student.

New goals of achievement were attained throughout the school year. The athletic teams under the coaching of Elmer Peaspanen, a graduate of Ohio University, acquired numerous succeeding honors in football, basket ball, and track. The football aggregation won second place in the county by defeating Randolph in the final playoff for second place. The success of the football season spurred the boys on to an equally successful basket ball regime. Anton Lejsek, stellar forward, ranked among the toppers in the number of individual points scored throughout the season.

A spirit of student cooperation pervaded every school activity even to the extent of introducing new ones. Extreme interest in debate resulted in the formation of a debate class whose members did their best to match wits with golden-voiced oratory.

Sidney Marvin, our first contestant in the Prince of Peace Declamation Contest, placed first in the district meet at Charlestown. This endeavor has opened a new channel of effort—that of public speaking.

It has been said that 'twill be a blessing when the class of '38 graduates from Freedom high school for it is they who spoil all competition for the other classes in the inter-class one-act play contest. This particular class has won the silver cup for the past two years for its accomplished acting in these respective plays.

Our newshawks have ably detailed to the student body the news of the school and community, as well as having written original and interesting copy. The Christmas and commencement issues were circulated in the form of regular newspapers. Our compliments are due its editor, Gene Clark.

The expression of music was given to us in the forms of a Christmas cantata and an operetta. The chorus, directed by Mr. G. Emory Tarr, in its presentation of the cantata received commendations from the listening audience for having presented such a finished production. The operetta was typical of the same type of excellent singing. Eleven members of the mixed chorus represented the school in the county chorus.

The various social functions were always eagerly anticipated: New ones, Dad's Day and a Mother-Daughter Tea, were begun with the hopes of their becoming a part of Freedom High School as well as the traditional ones such as, freshman initiation, class parties and breakfasts, and the junior-senior prom still holding favor among the students.

When students of Hiram High School returned in September, they found a number of changes had taken place. Mr. R. L. Davies occupied the position formerly held by Mr. R. S. Hadsell, that of principal. Mr. W. V. Lavell had left the faculty of the high school to practice law, and Mr. R. D. Hilty had taken a position in Berea, Ohio. Mr. Arthur Benedict, teacher of sociology, economics and history, also coach of basket ball, and Miss Mary Frances Fox, teacher of French and music, were the newcomers to the high school faculty.

A great deal of progress has been made in musical activities due to the fact that there is now a full-time director of music. This has made possible the organization of an orchestra and greater progress in the grade school music. In the latter part of the first semester a Christmas musical consisting of an operetta and choral selections was given by the grade school children. The high school chorus gave an operetta the first week in May.

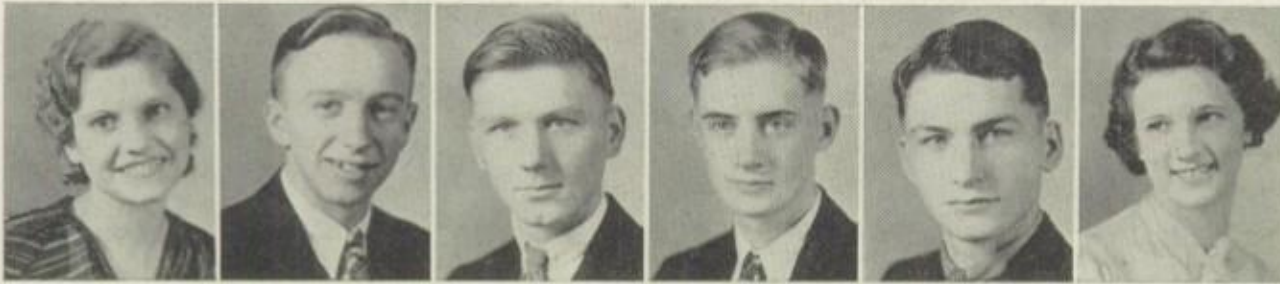

Due to graduation of most first-team men, the Hiram basket ball team was severely hampered throughout the entire season. However, their spirit of cooperation and zeal bids for a successful season next year.

The basket ball banquet, though not celebrating a victorious team, was enthusiastically attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

The Hi-W and the Hi-Y, two social organizations of the high school, have been very active and of great value to their members and the school as a whole. The Hi-W has sponsored several successful parties. All classes of the high school have entered with enthusiasm into the various social activities of the school year.

During the past year there seems to have been an increased interest in the school paper, The Hilltop Hi-Light. The paper has provided many an outlet for creative writing, and has been most successful. The entire staff attended the symposium at Aurora as guest of the Aurora Borealis staff. A member of the Cleveland Press spoke on problems in the construction and editing of the school paper.

As the school year draws to a close, there is a general feeling in the student body that progress has been made. This is shown specifically in an increased interest in scholarship and in a finer spirit of cooperation.

STREETSBOROTWP.

As the school year draws rapidly to a close, we check back to see what it has meant to us.

In sports it has brought us the more important things — fun, physical development, good sportsmanship, and given us very little of the less important—victories.

Two new members were added to the faculty, Miss Tarr and Miss Kading.

In the latter part of September the sophomores gave a highly enjoyable initiation party for the freshmen. All sorts of tricks were played on the poor frosh, after which delicious refreshments were served in the assembly hall.

The juniors practiced long and hard on the annual play. After much work and loss of temper by the director, the fatal night arrived. The play, "Mountain Mumps," was pronounced by an enthusiastic audience to be a howling success.

With the help of parents, the lunches have been the greatest success yet. Generous contributions of potatoes, tomatoes, other food and money made it possible for the school to serve a complete lunch for seven and one half to ten cents. Many more students are being served than before.

Three new classes have enriched the curriculum this year. Mr. Watters teaches a class in Commerce and Industry. An extensive study is being made of commercial machinery and of industrial development and trends in the world.

Mr. Braden has a group of home mechanics. They have done general repair work on furniture, doors, bicycles. They have studied various types of motors, torn down and reassembled an automobile motor, and studied driving techniques.

A class in Home Management is under the direction of Miss Reitz. The girls are making a study of interior decorating, wise selection of various materials, and the choice of furniture. Diets are discussed, and the purchase of foods. The development of personality traits and the social graces is also emphasized. The students as well as the teachers feel these courses have added real value to the high school program.

We agree the year has been worthwhile.

MANTUA VILLAGE

The speedometer rolled up to September 8, 1936, and Mantua was off to a successful start. As vacation memories faded from sight, new and pleasant thoughts appeared in view—teachers, books, compositions, student activities, studying, tests, bells, buzzers, and other things necessary in securing an education.

On the first day of school, Mr. Johnson, our principal, introduced the assembled junior and senior high school to two new teachers: Mr. James Cox, formerly of Copley; and Miss Agnes Dye, of Broadacre. Miss Dye, teacher of English, Latin, and home economics, replaced Mrs. Clement; and Mr. Cox succeeded Mr. Don Cordier in the capacity of coach and instructor in industrial arts and history. Two former teachers, Mr. Linwood Freeman and Miss Sarah Birney, also were greeted by the student body. Miss Edna Bauman, Mrs. Kathleen Knight, and Mrs. Ethel Booth, all former teachers, met their classes in the elementary school.

After the routine schedule had been worked out, various clubs were organized to promote the varied social and recreational interests of the pupils. These were the dramatics club, journalism club, science club, handicraft club, and travel club. Each was under the supervision of a teacher. The dramatics club presented "The Three Graces" under the sponsorship of the juniors. The journalism club contributed to the local weekly paper as well as put out its own monthly publication. Before the year was over, it had the "lowdown" on most of the students. The science club studied photography as its chief project. The travel club did most of its traveling in the library but found it almost as enjoyable as in an upper berth of a train or steamship. The handicraft club provided opportunity for those who liked to tinker and make gadgets.

Early in the year, Mr. Gerkowski, of the Cleveland Orchestra, took over the direction of our musically talented pupils, and a very fine chorus and attractive and serviceable band resulted.

A close examination of the sports records of the "lads and lassies on the hill" shows much success. The boys, coached by Mr. Cox, and the girls, coached by Mr. Freeman, had many opportunities to ring the "victory bell." In basket ball, the boys had but one defeat — Windham; the girls, likewise one defeat — Garrettsville. Next year we look forward to entertaining our football opponents on an improved athletic field which is now under reconstruction.

The elementary classes entertained the school and parents at Christmas time with the operetta, "Santa's Airline," a program sponsored by the Mothers' Club. They expect to give another one in the spring.

A Valentine Day dance, a school exhibit, an athletic banquet, a junior-senior banquet, baccalaureate, and commencement, will follow and the speedometer will read "May 28, 1937" another year will have been completed.

M A N T U A

The school year of 1936-37 introduced several new faculty members. Mr. A. E. McCully remained as principal and head of the social science department. Mr. Elmer Zabor returned as boys' coach, and manual training and high school mathematics instructor; Miss Mabel Smith returned to teach the first and second grades. The new members were Miss Ruth Scott, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Glen Marks, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Louise Metz, home economics, high school English, and dramatics; Miss Dorothy Young, music, art, English, and social science; and Mr. Dean Kisseberth, health, mathematics, sciences, and girls' coach.

The school this year has centered much attention on creative dramatics. The stage has been newly equipped and the Junior and Senior Dramatic Clubs have kept it in use. Both groups wrote and produced their own plays under the supervision of Miss Metz. The junior class play, a hilarious farce, "In a Burst of Glory," was greatly enjoyed by a packed house, November 25.

Even the faculty became stagestruck and on February 10th presented the comedy-farce "Black Cats."

T W P

But dramatics is not our sole interest. The athletic situation is satisfying. Both girls' and boys' baseball teams were highly successful. Basketball revealed the making of several new stars making the prospects for next year promising. Neither team lost many players through graduation.

Several new courses were added to the curriculum this year. Practical sociology was offered as an elective for the high school. General mathematics filled the great need in mathematics not met by any other course. Consumer's education proved very valuable as a laboratory class. Some excellent research work was done by the pupils.

The frequent use of the sound film projector purchased last year greatly aided in making all subjects more real.

The P. T. A. has been of great assistance by cooperating with the school in many ways. Its outstanding contribution this year was the purchase of all this year's Ohio Reading Circle Books for grades one to twelve.

Hot lunches were served every day to the students and the increasing number who bought lunches showed our appreciation of the cafeteria.

Through supervised courses, both vocal and instrumental classes were open to the students of all grades. Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs and Mixed Chorus have sung at many P. T. A. programs, at plays, at church, and in assemblies. The orchestra and vocal organizations gave a joint Musical Festival in the evening of April 3, under the direction of Mr. Francis Kinney and Miss Dorothy Jane Young.

After the Christmas Program the entire high school went caroling around the township singing for the invalids and shut-ins. Also, during the Christmas vacation, December 26th, a closed high school party was held at the gymnasium. Both before and since then many dances have been given and they are enthusiastically attended by the school.

All in all, Mantua Township feels that it has many things to remember from the school year 1936-37.

Few Aurora students realized what a successful school year lay before them when they entered school in September. Definite steps were taken to balance and broaden the school program this year. The new faculty members are: Miss Mann, art and music instructor, Miss Lyons, sixth grade teacher, Mr. Wing, manual training instructor and coach, and Miss Bush, librarian.

A broader senior civics course afforded an opportunity for frequent field trips. Vocational guidance, journalism, and art courses were added also to the curriculum.

Debate, journalism, and dramatics have been stressed this year to balance the extra-curricular program. Endeavoring to popularize debate and school publications throughout the county, Aurora sponsored a debate clinic and newspaper symposium. One hundred thirty seven debaters and coaches attended the clinic February 18. The newspaper symposium on March 18, was also successful. Representatives returned to their respective schools with new ideas concerning the technique of making publications attractive and useful.

The Aurora Borealis, Aurora's news organ, is steadily improving and increasing in size. The debate team participated in the county tournament and clashed with several out-of-county debate squads.

Dramatics, as usual, played an important part in school activities. The seniors presented "Haunted," a three-act play, December 10. The school and townspeople presented three one-act plays February 26.

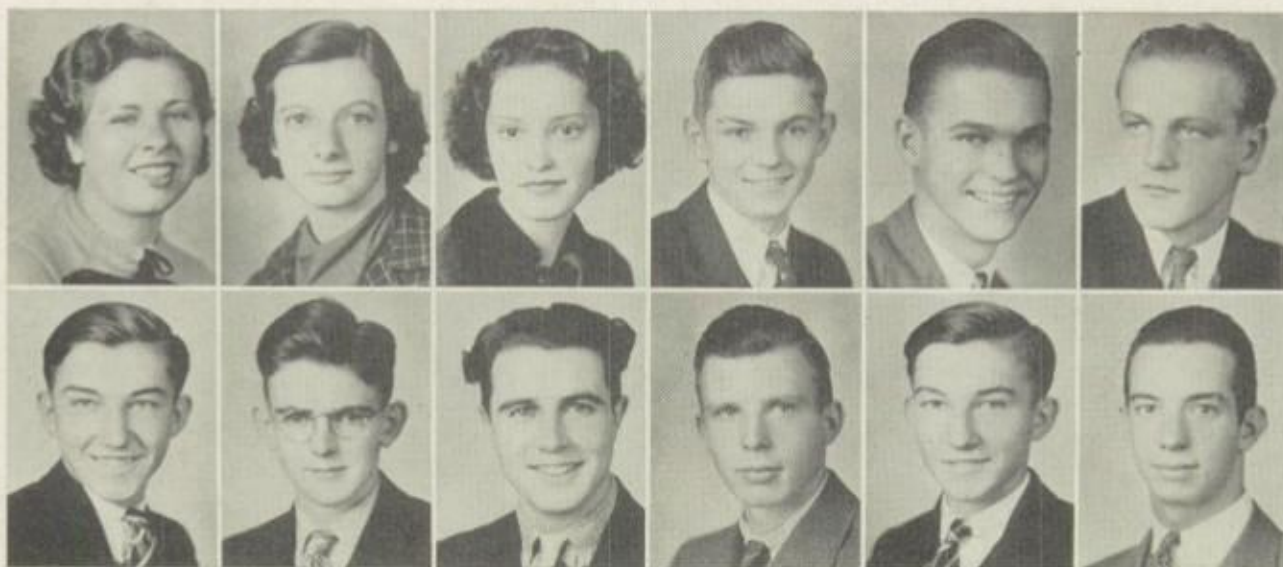

The school gave "Wienies on Wednesday" and "Three's a Crowd"; the townspeople presented "The Bishop's Candlesticks." The juniors presented "Three Days of Gracie" April 8. Throughout the year the elementary grades entertained the community with several plays and an operetta.

Aurora's athletic cycle took an upward swing this year. Our football team brought home the Portage county championship. The Irish captured five victories to gain the prime position in the northern loop. Aurora dropped Ravenna Township in the championship game to gain the second county football title in its athletic history.

Aurora played its most successful basket ball season in several years. Track possibilities this year, however, are not so promising. Spring football will probably replace baseball.

Another popular innovation was the "Le Petit Theatre," built in the south portable. This little theater provides a necessary place for school assemblies, and P. T. A. meetings. Slide projections and motion pictures, an important factor in the visual education program, are thus made possible.

The juniors played "host" to the seniors at the traditional junior-senior banquet May 22. A pageant was a part of the Commencement exercises, June 3.

CHARLESTOWN TWP.

No one thing in recent years has served so well in coordinating the interests and activities of the Charlestown community as the completion of a substantial addition to the school building. Not only does the school program gain, through the acquisition of two attractive class rooms, but also the spacious gymnasium-auditorium makes possible many new activities and adds to the efficiency of others.

The stage is ample and has fine scenic and lighting effects. There has been provided an attractive cyclorama, together with complete indoor and outdoor scenery, including casement window, door, and fireplace units.

The auditorium has seating facilities for 600 with additional space available if needed. A fine set of folding bleachers, which will accommodate 250 spectators, provides a comfortable place during games and supplements the folding chairs used during programs.

Draperies of velour in a rich shade of blue adorn the windows, and match the stage curtain. Exceptionally fine lighting has been provided throughout the building. Here too, one may find an attractive rest-room, as well as ample locker and shower rooms. Numerous changes in the old building were made to conform to the new demands.

The first public use of the new school was a benefit program of athletic exhibition, followed by a dance. An old time community Christmas affair saw in attendance the largest crowd of the year. This celebration was handled jointly by the school, the P. T. A. and the church. It represented a real harmony of community spirit. Everything one would expect to find at such a program was there; the exchange of presents, Santa Claus, and even a treat for every person in the house. This was probably the largest assembly ever gathered in the township.

Two dances were sponsored by school groups: the Halloween Dance, by the junior and senior classes, the Valentine dance, by the Athletic Association.

Drama featured conspicuously in school programs. The juniors presented "Please To Meet Ya" at Thanksgiving time while the seniors had their annual play in the late spring. In March, the faculty furnished an innovation with the play "The MacMurray Chin."

Forensic activities interested a group of twelve earnest students who participated in the debate tournament.

Socially, the outstanding event was a dinner at the Colonial Tea Room in Ravenna where the faculty, members of the Board of Education and Superintendent Rausch and his wife, were guests of Principal and Mrs. Howard Cook.

Exchanges of assembly programs with other schools, an occasional motion picture and various other outside talent presentations brought the spice of variety to the usual routine of school life.

The Parent-teachers' Association mirrored the general interest and enthusiasm of the community. It is not too much to say that a close bond exists between the school and the home. This is as it should be and bespeaks for the school, with such a relationship, a measure, at least, of success.

Nelson school opened with an entirely new high school faculty, and two new grade teachers. Our guides are now headed by Milo M. Sprunger who instructs us in science, history, and mathematics; with C. Lester Sabin teaching English, manual arts, and history; Glen C. Farrington, mathematics, science, and athletics; and Ethel M. Wilcox, English, home economics, and music in the high school. The first six grades are using a departmental plan in which Eva Stutz with the first and second grade home room teaches writing. Hazel Ingledue has the third and fourth grades, and teaches art in all the grades. Marjorie C. Burton has the fifth and sixth grades, and teaches music. Jessie Freeman teaches music in the entire school on Friday.

Many students, interested in the clubs initiated by Mr. Sprunger, indulge in their hobbies by building radios and model airplanes, collecting stamps, or sketching.

One of our basement rooms has been transformed into a woodworking shop where the fifth and sixth grade boys and girls make wooden animals, ships, and lamps.

Mr. Sabin has been giving the girls in his high school manual arts class instruction in metal craft. They are very enthusiastic about their doorstops, book ends, bracelets, and "what nots" they are making. This is the first class of its kind to be given here.

The Progressives, Knights, Cavaliers, and P. O. C. are the literary societies formed to furnish an outlet for our various abilities. Our assembly programs are made up by these societies and guest speakers. Before Christmas the literary groups competed in selling tuberculosis seals. The first six grades also sponsored a contest among the home rooms. The total sales amounted to $27.34. The Progressives won, with the Knights following a very close second. In the grades the third and fourth barely won over the fifth and sixth room.

The senior class has set a new high in dramatics with its presentation of "Comin' Thru the Rye." Bill Dahl as the gay sailor, Kenneth Fackler, the inn-keeper, and Mildred Kostalek, the inn-keeper's daughter, set the pace of the cast of the merry comedy.

If one is puzzled by the worried looks of the juniors every three weeks, we find the explanation in the fact that they are attempting to furnish their subscribers with the promised issues of the "Blizzard" representing current school life.

The senior class, with Mr. Sprunger as sponsor, has Johnny Fenstermaker president, Nellie Smith treasurer, and Ann Polomsky secretary. Robert Johnson is the president of the junior class, Ruth Keiper treasurer, Jerry Chapman secretary, and

 Row Two: Agnes Polomsky, John Fenstermaker, Mildred Kostalek, Marcella Keiffer, Agnes Duch, Harold Keiper.

DEERFIELD TWP

Tuesday morning, September 8, found two hundred twenty students gathered at Deerfield School to greet our new principal, R. W. Hilty who came to us from Windham, and the other new faculty members: Miss Bundy, Miss Wilcox, who teaches grades one and two; Mr. Dunavy, and Mr. Snodgrass. We are glad to welcome back Miss Henry, Miss Welty, and Miss Moore who have been with use for a number of years. Through the cooperation of both teachers and students our school term has been very successful and pleasant.

A student council organized at the beginning of the school year proved a great benefit to the school. Its eight members were chosen from the respective high school classes. This organization planned many interesting school classes and activities, and devised a point system whereby a letter is given to the students earning special credit during the year by participating in various school activities.

The annual Halloween social was held in the school auditorium, October 30, and proved a very "gala" and successful event. Of course the cider, doughnuts, hamburgers, ice-cream, etc., were not unimportant items at this grand affair.

The News Bee, our school-community paper is published every two weeks. The hum of industry which is heard in the News Bee office the day before the publication of the paper is proof of the diligence and sincerity of our news staff.

Dramatics was not neglected in Deerfield School. The senior class play, entitled "Poor Father" was presented on Wednesday evening, February 10. This three-act farce provided many a laugh for the appreciative audience. The juniors tried their ability at acting with a play also. Throughout the year, various entertainments of a dramatic nature were presented at the monthly assembly programs.

The usual "round" of parties, beginning with one sponsored by the sophomores for the "poor little Freshies," who didn't escape the accustomed, horrible initiation, started our social season. An auction sale, which provided much amusement; and more important to the seniors some of the desired money for the class fund, was sponsored by the seniors on October 9. The money will be used for the annual senior trip to Washington, D. C.

The boys' basket ball team, which was coached by Mr. Dunlavy, showed a real fighting spirit throughout all the games of the season. Although the girls' team was not so successful in winning victories, the members were very good sports and fought hard for the "Red and Black."

Upper classes looked forward eagerly to the Junior-Senior Banquet and other important commencement activities which marked the close of another eventful school year.

On September 8th the returning student body met with a vast surprise—the old order had made way for the new with a clean sweep! Mr. Stanley L. Davis succeeded Mr. Luoma as band director. Miss Mautz was in charge of the first grade; Miss Kelsey of the second and third and Miss Wise of the fourth and fifth; however, at the beginning of the second semester, Miss Kelsey resigned and was replaced by Mrs. Hyde. A new arrangement of classes was made so that a room was left free for band and orchestra practice. Two more rows of seats filled up the assembly hall, and the eighth graders were moved in.

Early in December the combined glee clubs, directed by Miss Jane Hanna, gave an operetta, "An Old Kentucky Garden." This was under the sponsorship of the junior class.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, the mixed chorus presented a vesper service at the church, December 20; the home economics class had a party for a group of orphans from Warren; and all the grades had Christmas celebrations and gift-exchanges. One of the prominent features of entertainment was the presentation of a one-act play entitled "The Christmas Pull," which was given before the high school group.

The Student Council, headed by Fay Angel, decided to continue the dances which were so popular last year.

The school enjoyed a variety of lectures and travel-talks. Perhaps the reason that they were so well received was the broad range of subjects—from the Far East to our own New Mexico and Arizona.

The Hi-W girls, with their president, Rachel Simpson, and their supervisor, Miss Hanna, held an afternoon tea in January for all the girls from the eighth grade up. A special program preceded the tea. The speaker was Mrs. Leah Cox of Rootstown, who spoke on "Character."

The senior class has begun rehearsals of the three-act comedy "Girl-Shy," which they expect to present in the latter part of March. The play is being directed by Mr. Crecelius of Hiram, assisted by Mr. D. J. Menough, the class supervisor.

The Athletic Association has bought new sweat jackets of lined gold and black satin for the girls' basket ball team.

The high school is eagerly awaiting the coming basket ball tournament games in which they hope to make up for their failure in football.

Elaborate plans are in the making for a bigger and better Junior-Senior Prom and for all the graduation exercises.

After three months of idleness, the school bells pealed merrily, as the pupils filed in. Old friends and new friends appeared. New teachers were: Mr. Ott—history, Mr. Hamilton—commercial, Miss Moore—home economics, Miss Jones—third and fourth grades, Miss Ahl—first and second grades.

September 18, 1936

The annual school fair was sponsored by the student body. Handicraft projects, canned goods, flowers, and vegetables, Grange work were exhibited.

October 30, 1936

Felony, greediness, hoarding, sorrow, poverty, were some traits of an old-fashioned melodrama, STREETS OF NEW YORK, produced by the senior class and directed by Miss Riddle.

February 24, 1937

Humorous and extemporaneous speeches, oratory, and declamations together with classical music was sponsored by the National Forensic Society in the form of a high school concert.

March 20, 1937

A grand play "Poor Married Man" was presented by the P. T. A.

April 2, 1937

The sophomores also indulged in drama. They presented "Calm Yourself," under the guidance of their adviser, Mr. Hall.

May 7, 1937

The junior class presented the comedy, "Ready Made Family" under the direction of their adviser, Miss Riddle.

May 15, 1937

Streaming confetti, huge balloons of every hue of the rainbow, swirling gowns and the rest of the paraphernalia, were seen at the reception the juniors gave in honor of the seniors.

May 16, 1937

The soft music of violins, and halting footsteps brought to the seniors the solemnity of Baccalaureate.

May 20, 1937

Scholarly robes and tilted caps, sent forth another group of alumni to play "the chords of success on the violin of life."

There were four outstanding organizations in our school:

The National Forensic League, which included the people who were interested in improving their speaking ability.

The Student Council which sponsored an army of workers who cooperated to keep the school clean. Mr. Ruckman was the adviser.

Hi-Y club, a boys' club devoted to the purpose of helping its members achieve higher standards in life.

Hi-W, a girls' club, devoted to better womanhood.

The commercial department brought in to the school this year included in its short-hand, book-keeping, and typing.

ATWATER

Atwater High School is still going strong after an early start in the fall of '36. The first day is always exciting and important, but it was made even more so by the beginning of football practice. The student body, with the help of the patrons, held a School Sale, which proved very profitable. Hilarious times were had by all the classes at skating parties, and holiday feasts. The senior class went on several trips throughout the year. They were accompanied by the juniors on a trip to Schoenbrunn. This year we boast Miss Derthick as a new member of the faculty. Once a month, the students (teachers too) are treated to a movie held in the school auditorium. Progress is being made with the one act plays which will be given by the various classes for assembly programs.

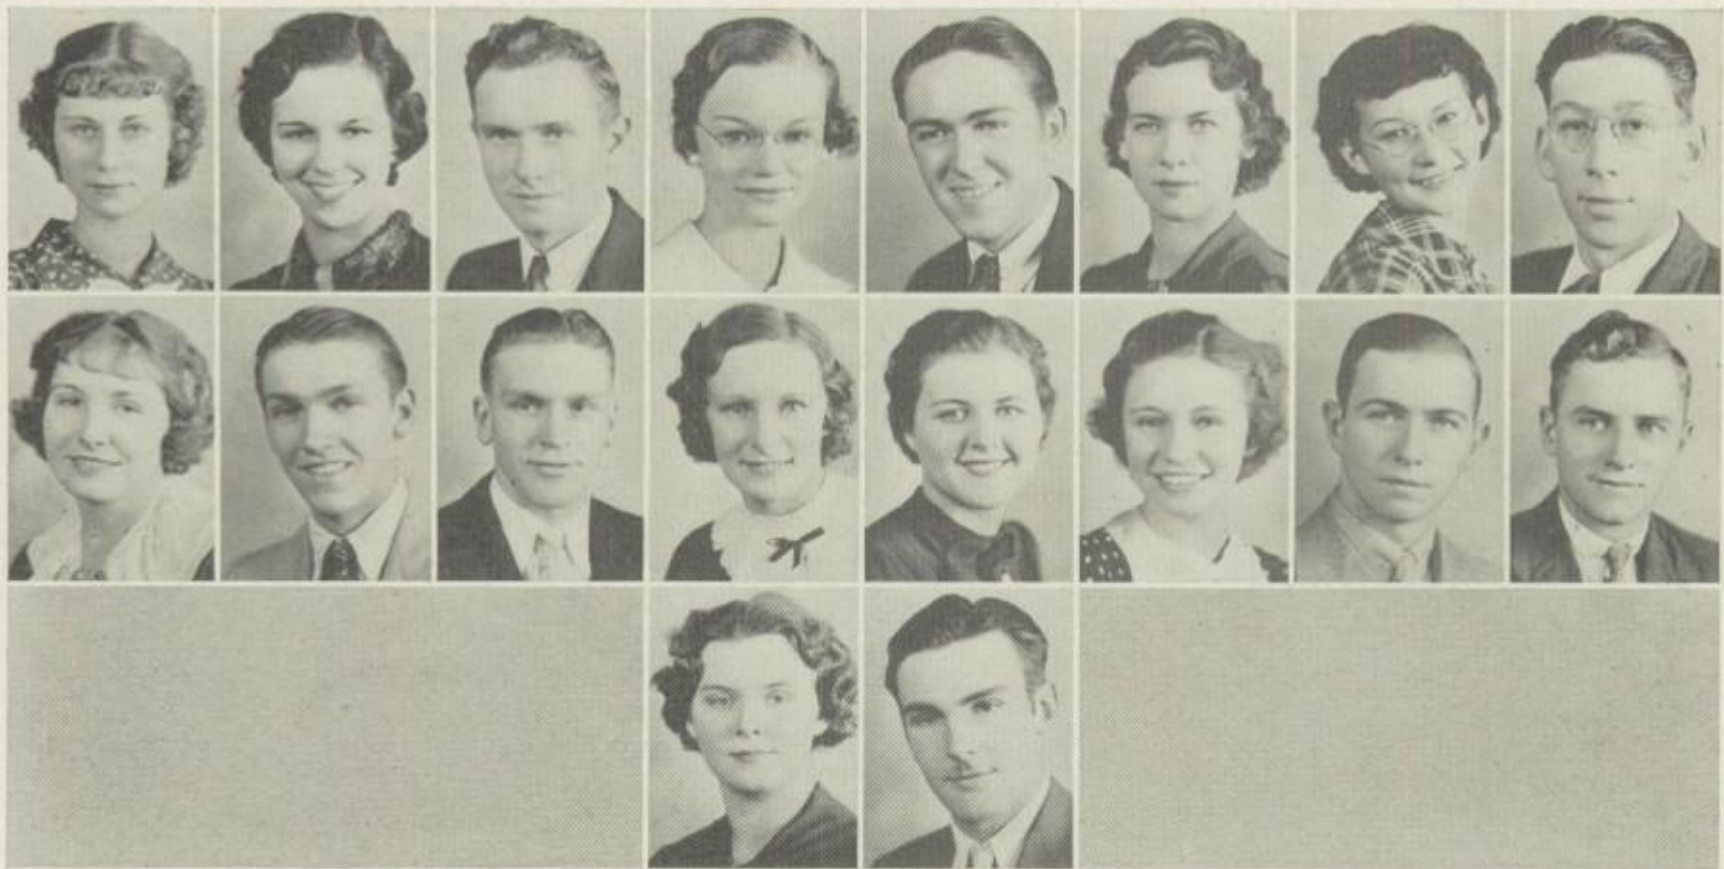

Speaking of plays, everyone gathered in the school auditorium for a rip-roaring comedy given by the junior class. The name? "Here Comes Charlie." It was directed by Miss Derthick. The surprise was "Charles" who turned out to be a girl. The senior class has not started a play yet, but will sometime in the spring. Since spring is not far off, juniors are getting excited about the Junior-Senior Banquet; and all the seniors are "up in the air," thinking about graduation.

The Future Farmers "went places" last year. At Toledo, the dairy judging team received two silver trophies. In the state contest at Columbus, the general livestock team ranked ninth; the dairy team, eleventh; and the other teams made good showings. The F. F. A. broadcast from WHK Cleveland in June. Their basket ball team received a banner for winning the district tournament at Madison. Charles Eno won the district Public Speaking Contest and represented Atwater at the state contest in Columbus.

Everyone in Atwater is greatly interested in athletics this year; especially in basket ball. They have a right to be, look where Atwater stands, and look at the team we have, backed by a good coach, Mr. M. S. Miller! May our boys keep up the way they've started, and bring home the bacon for Atwater fans! The second team, coached by Mr. V. Ward, shows good promise for developing a good varsity team in the future, for they have won most of their games.

The Home Economics Department, under the leadership of Mrs. G. Cowan, won first prize on their canned goods at the Randolph Fair, and are using the money to improve the domestic science room.

The school year at Atwater has been one of hard work, along with fun and fellowship among the students. May each succeeding year be the same.

EDINBURG TWP.

Things have changed since you went to dear old E. H. S. School opened September eighth with an enrollment of two hundred sixty-five. This year we have a new teacher and a new principal. The faculty at present are: Mr. Gomer Lewis, principal, social science; Mr. John Funk, dramatics, science; Mr. William Lane, coach, manual arts, history; Miss Pearl Pfile, librarian, mathematics, French; Miss Louise Anderson, music, English; Miss Helen Wise, English, Latin, home economics; Mrs. Marie McDonald, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Ruth Owen, third and fourth grades; and Mrs. Gladys Dreger, first and second grades.

Again we have a newspaper, "Students' Talent." It contains "Snoopee," "The Curious Cat," comics, news, editorials, and features. The staff is composed of the following people: Editor, Robert Honeck; associate editor, Marian James; business manager, Eleanor Thomas; editorials, Janette Schweizer; art, Lois Ritchey and Joy Warner; stenographer, Mildred Thorn; features, Verna Grund; sports, Robert Stewart and Alfred Smiley; humor, Viola Waldern; Hi-News, Jirldene Boothe and Margaret Weisenburger; grade news, Marie Gibson and Frances Dudek.

As for basket ball, we have one of the best teams Edinburg has ever had. Next year we will feel the loss of Merrill Waldern, Harry Gardner, and Frank Elliott. Cheer leaders are Viola Waldern, Phoebe Pettigrew, and Mary Lou Burton.

P. T. A. officers are: President, Mrs. Marion Grund; vice president, Mrs. Iona Corbitt; second vice president, Mrs. Gomer Lewis; secretary, Mrs. Alice Shilliday, and treasurer, Mrs. Helen French. The P. T. A. sponsored two movies, "Little Men" and "Hearts of Humanity."

I know you've heard about Graham Sheppard, our junior track ace, who passed up a chance to win at Columbus by being a sport and aiding Roelin of Salem to win. Edinburg is very proud of "Shep."

We have four good bus drivers: A. W. Bradfield, W. T. Weeks, O. E. Carpenter, and R. D. Royer. Mr. Weeks' bus is new.

The juniors gave a farewell party for Hattie Sturgill and held a roller skating party at Milton this year. The sophomores had a party for the freshmen. The eighth grade enjoyed a weiner roast.

The two clubs Hi-G and Hi-Y meet every other Monday and Tuesday respectively.

A new Board of Education was elected in 1936: Arthur Schweizer, Harry Turner, Eldis Bingham, James McFadden, Nelson Huges, and Mrs. Edna Owen.

I hope you attended the senior play, "Out of the Fog," starring Marian James, Mike Schlachetka, Dorothy Carpenter, and Perry Gibson Jr.

At the time of the terrible floods Edinburg school's cellar was covered with a foot of water. This closed school for two days and threw examinations off schedule.

Debaters, full of hope are: Cranston Davis, Margaret Weisenburger, Janette

 Row Three: Joe Veppert, Mary Veppert, Merrill Waldern, Viola Waldern, Margaret Weisenburger, Pearl Wilson.

Schweizer, Lois Ritchey, Mildred Thorne, Perry Gibson, Marian James, Mareta Kistler, Frances Dudek, and Violet Waldern.

Other events of interest consisted of a one-act play and an operetta which were presented successfully. A School Fair provided a contest for local farmers' prize produce.

By popular eection Viola Waldern and Graham Sheppard were voted most popular girl and boy.

Certain indications show that the year 1936-37 was an unusual one in the school history of Ravenna Township. However, progress is more easily noticed if one looks back over the line of years.

In 1884, there were nine separate schools in the township in which two hundred eighty-eight pupils were enrolled. In 1937, five hundred twenty-eight pupils registered on September eighth.

The faculty in those days consisted of one teacher for each ungraded school and a superintendent. This year's staff of sixteen teachers find their facilities for teaching greatly improved over those early beginnings.

Music, which was introduced in 1908 by Mr. Fred Seymour, was taught by Mr. Royal Reynolds, a graduate of Kent State University. A uniformed band of twenty-five has gratified those who "love a good march." A string ensemble, consisting of five violins and a cello, pleased music lovers in the community.

After consolidation in 1916, a little attention was given to athletics, but physical education was still a novelty. The early teams were usually coached by a local boy. In 1936, Mr. Shay developed a football squad to be proud of. Stopped only by Aurora's "razzledazzle," Ravenna played an undefeated schedule in the south half of the county league, and completed the season in second place in the county. New this year in the boys' physical education program is a system which enables each boy to take a shower after gymnasium class. Wire baskets and racks for clothing were purchased.

Manual training was installed by Mr. J. W. Dirkson in 1916. Mr. Murphy's department this year ranked highest in the number of awards won at the Randolph Fair. It is interesting to note that harness-making was a part of the work taught by Mr. Dirkson.

Commercial work, which had its feeble start in 1917, has developed into a large department under Mr. Hoyt. An additional room was added this year to accommodate twenty typewriters.

Mr. Donaldson, our principal, has introduced several new features into the curriculum, such as: craft work in grades five and six, regular assembly in junior and senior high school, and special recognition for scholarship, extra-curricular activities, athletics, and citizenship. Pin awards were given at the end of the year to those pupils whose ratings corresponded with a scale which was set up for that purpose.

Junior Red Cross work continued this year and a great deal of joy was derived from painting novelty Easter eggs for the old people at the County Home.

New in the history of the school is the appearance of a school paper, The

Other noteworthy undertakings should be mentioned, but space does not permit. And so ends another page in our school history, commemorated in these pages of the Speedometer.

School opened September seventh, 1936 with an enrollment of 290. The student body had the opportunity of welcoming three new teachers to the school when changes in the faculty brought to Windham Mrs. Cox, who heads the commercial department; Miss Kennedy, who teaches the social sciences; and Mr. Young, music director.

September, 1936 found Windham School a much improved institution. The school grounds had been made more habitable through the addition of an extensive drainage system. The grade building was improved by electrical wiring, repainting, and other repairs. In the high school building, the resources of the commercial department were increased by the addition of ten new typewriters; while the science department was augmented by a substantial amount of new physics equipment. Always seeking to broaden the curriculum, the Board of Education, in 1936-37 offered to the students a new course in public speaking. Out of this class was organized the debate squad which successfully represented Windham in several debates.

The Hi-Y and Hi-W organizations were continued, and programs of thought provoking nature were planned and conducted. A journalistic presentation of school news was made effective through the bi-monthly publication of "The Flash." Also during the year, two new clubs came into being—namely the W-Boys and W-Girls. These organizations worked, mainly, for the athletic advancement of the school, and it was through their diligent efforts that the basket ball teams were able to procure new and much needed suits.

In regard to basket ball, Windham experienced a pleasantly successful season, with both boys' and girls' teams completing their schedules undefeated, with the girls continuing, after several hard fought tournament games, to win the Portage County championship.

An intramural basket ball tournament, a table tennis tournament, along with baseball, football, and track schedules rounded out the year's athletic program.

A step in student government was taken when the Student Government Association was organized. Through the efforts of this organization, several beneficial projects were undertaken and consummated, one of which was the institution of morning chapel services.

Social activities consisted of several dances and class parties, along with the Junior Carnival, the Senior-Parent party, and, perhaps the outstanding social event of the year—the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Activity in drama and public speaking also ran high. Several students contended for honors in the local "Prince of Peace" contest. The first play of the year was an enlightening presentation of the comedy, "Girl Shy" by the senior class. The juniors also participated in the Thespian art when they played to a large audience early in April, and the music department made its contribution to dramatic activity in the school through its brilliant performance of the operetta, "The Gypsy Rover."

In conclusion it may be said that, during the 1936-37 year, Windham School fully enjoyed scholastic, athletic, and social achievement.

Regular classes met on September 8, with the following teachers in charge: Glen L. Powell, principal, social sciences; Florence E. Lewis, first and second grades; Florence E. Beck, third and fourth grades; Marion A. Balser, fifth and sixth grades; Flora J. Sprague, English and debate; Virginia D. Crowl, home economics and modern languages; John G. Vett, Jr., mathematics and physical sciences; Sam V. Cipriano, industrial arts and physical education; and Raymond Gerkowski, vocal and instrumental music.

Misses Balser, Crowl, and Sprague, and Messrs. Vett and Gerkowski are new on the faculty this year. The ladies all hail from Portage County and received most of their training from Kent State University. Mr. Vett, a native of New York State received his degree from Baldwin-Wallace College in 1934. Mr. Gerkowski lives in Bedford and is a member of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. He plays the cello.

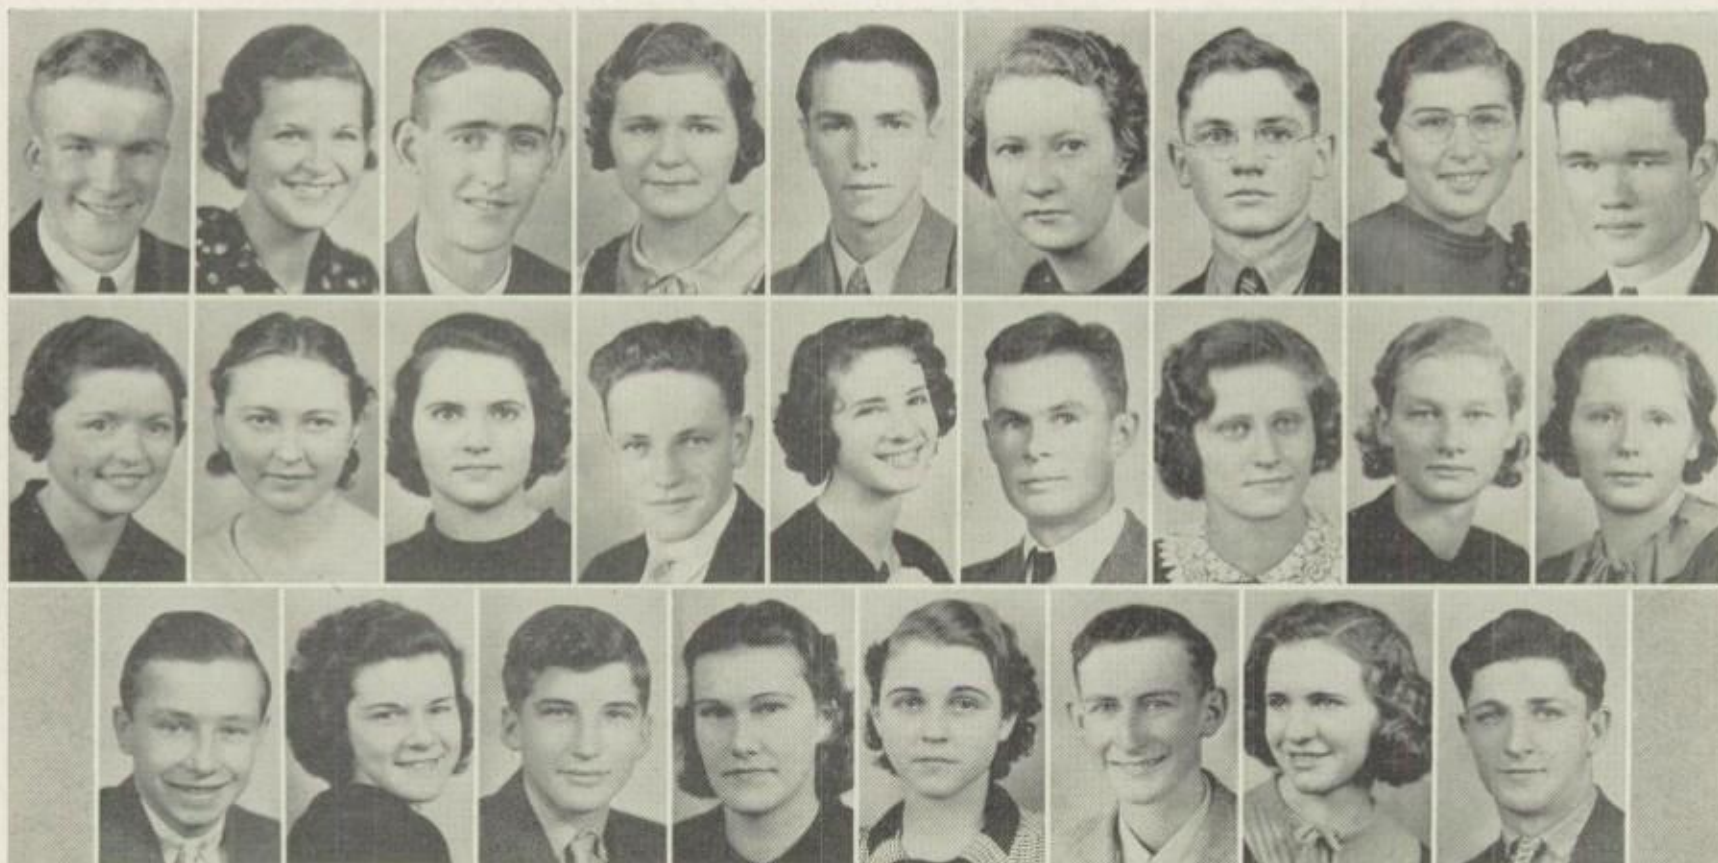

Some innovations this year are a Boy Scout Club, Modern Airplane Club, honor roll in all grades, compilation of a permanent cumulative pupil personnel record file, assembly programs, participation in debate and one-act plays. Also, music students are attending the all-county rehearsals in chorus and orchestra. Athletic events have been confined to baseball and basket ball.

Free textbooks have been furnished for the second year throughout the entire school. The use of suitable workbooks, purchased by the students, is considered an excellent practice and is being increased. The need of a well-planned testing program in every grade is recognized. Though far from being complete this year, plans are under way to supply this requirement next year.

Palmyra's active P. T. A. of one hundred seventy-five members, headed by Earl Jones, has shown a real school interest. Through membership fees and two annual plays, it financed the major cost of the periodicals used by the school, repair and redecoration of the auditorium stage, and purchase of fifty new folding chairs for auditorium use.

Palmyra's seniors numbered twenty-six, the largest four-year graduating class ever to graduate from this school. Caps and gowns were worn by the seniors at their graduating exercises and baccalaureate. This dress is an innovation in Palmyra High School. A beautiful ring, bearing the name of the school and the year, distinguishes the hand of each senior. In anticipation of their trip to the national capital in May, the seniors raised funds by means of class plays, socials, raffles, roller skating parties, and candy sales.

Students and parents seem to prefer the play as an activity. The Parent-Teachers' Association put on two plays. "I'll Explain Everything" was given in March. Another was given on Palmyra's traditional May Fair Monday. The seniors gave their class play, "Second Fiddle," under the direction of Miss Sprague and Mr. Vett on February twelfth. An operetta was given in April by the music department under the direction of Mr. Gerkowski.

Row One: Richard Halloch, Louise Williams, William Williams, Mildred Sickle, Burl McCollum, Marie Campbell, Russel Bebb, Mary Six, Alfred Burge.
 Row Two: Freda Sampson, Agnes Hill, Verna Champagne, Dale Thomas, Regina Moussiaux, Carl Kerr, Elizabeth Schultz, Dorothy Force, Maxine Johns.

R A N D O L P H T W P •

September eighth found Randolph welcoming a record number, 403 students, to its "Haven of Education." There were seven new teachers to greet us. Among these were our principal, Mr. Edgar Bloom, formerly of Nelson; Mr. Potts, a graduate from Ohio University; Mrs. Brooks, from Solon, Ohio; Mr. Borrer, a graduate from Ohio State University; Miss Butler of Kent, music teacher; Mr. Edward Harris of Ravenna, coach; and Miss Edna Jenior, a local resident, fifth and sixth grade teacher.

A sea of innocent, guileless faces greeted us from the freshmen's home room. They smiled shyly on upper classmen hoping no one would taunt them with that epithet that wilts even the most enthusiastic of freshmen, "Greenie." The sophomores strutted in their new found dignity and the juniors resented the seniors' freezing stares and otherwise superior attitude which met their friendly advancements.

Football practice was soon in full swing. The team was quite successful. They beat our old rival, Suffield, in one game and rang up a tied score two weeks later with the same opponent. Our coach has enforced strict training rules and the results have been sufficient evidence of their worth. The basket ball squad had gone through the season with flying colors.

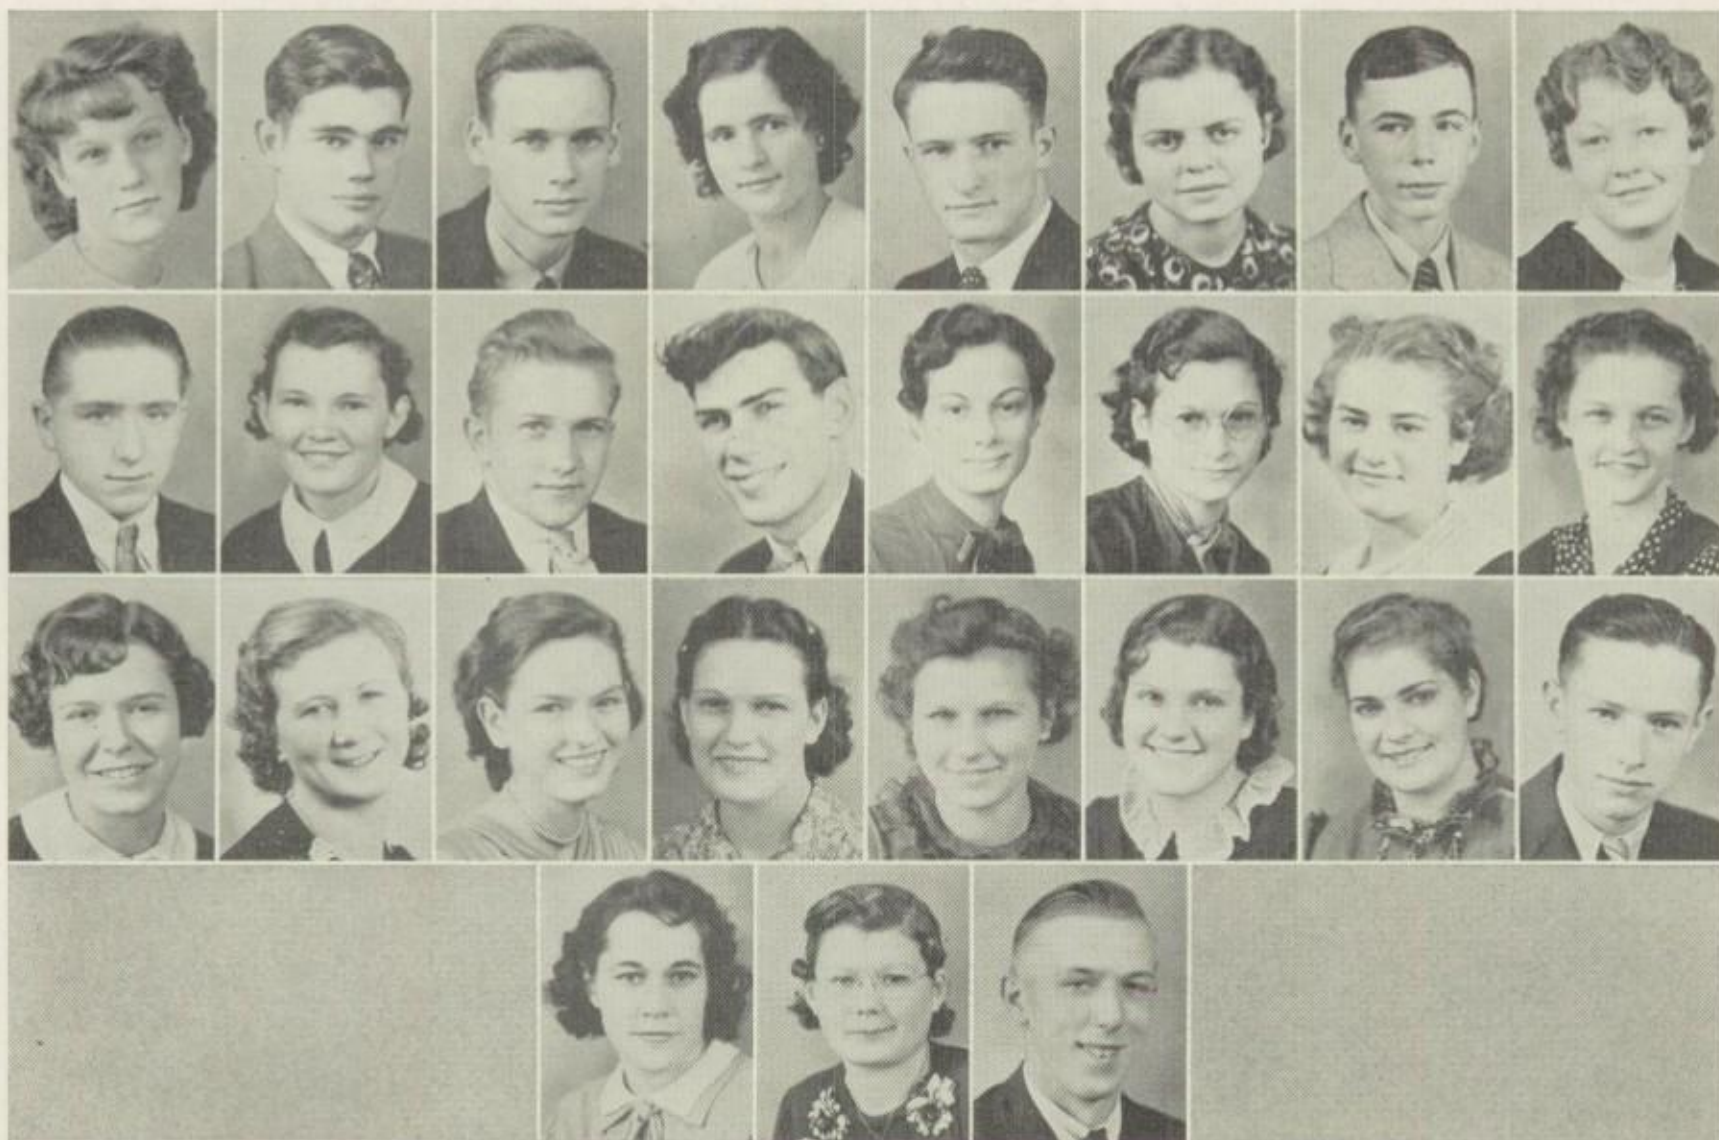

A number of additions and improvements have been made since school opened. Two new subjects, public speaking and debating, have been added to our educational curriculum. Dramatics has played an important part in school entertainments and assembly programs have been comprised of student talent. The honor roll system has been introduced, creating an atmosphere of friendly scholastic rivalry. A Booster Club and Athletic Association have done much to enliven school spirit and clear our athletic association from debt. An enthusiastic response has greeted "Pep" meetings under the direction of the Athletic Association. New basket ball equipment has been purchased from the funds; a dramatic production paid for the refinishing of the gymnasium floor. A radio was purchased so that students may enjoy music with their dinner. This feature is as good as you can get at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The senior class chose a blood-curdling mystery, "The Whispering Room." This was presented in March.

Junior jackets — a fireman's red, sobered with a little gray—and senior pictures and rings have been bought and duly displayed. The last wave of excitement was the preparation for Junior-Senior Prom and Commencement Day. And then—who knows? Au Revoir Seniors!

When the big yellow school busses came into the Suffield School yard on the morning of September 9 and unloaded four hundred and seventy pupils, there seemed to be an usual current of enthusiasm running through the group—enthusiasm for the year's work and quiet determination not only to make their school better, but the best.

Soon the school was shaking with tremors of excitement for it was inwardly seething with all sorts of activities. There were the Community Fair, given by the vocational agriculture classes; the senior play, the Carnival, the one-act play contest, and the regular football schedule all successfully completed before Christmas.

During the second semester, our teams finished the basket ball season with an excellent record. The junior class presented a play; the glee club, an operetta; and the school participated in the county one-act play and music festivals. The grades gave an evening of music in May. A busy year was finished by baseball and commencement activities.

Meanwhile the students were not too absorbed in outside activities to lose sight of the importance of class work. As a result, the scholarship of the school was improved.

The curriculum was enriched by courses in chemistry and farm management. New equipment was added. A public address system was installed. A new velvet curtain was added to the auditorium, and new books to the library.

The social events of the year were varied. During the first semester each of the classes of the junior and senior high school enjoyed a weiner roast at Brown's landing on Wing Foot Lake and a party in the school gymnasium. The second semester was so filled with extra-curricular activities that only a few class parties were given. The boys' club, the Future Farmers of America, gave a Father and Son Banquet on March fourth. The meal was cooked and served by the girls of the domestic science department under the supervision of Miss Claribel Spacht, the domestic science teacher. A Mother and Daughter Banquet was given in May.

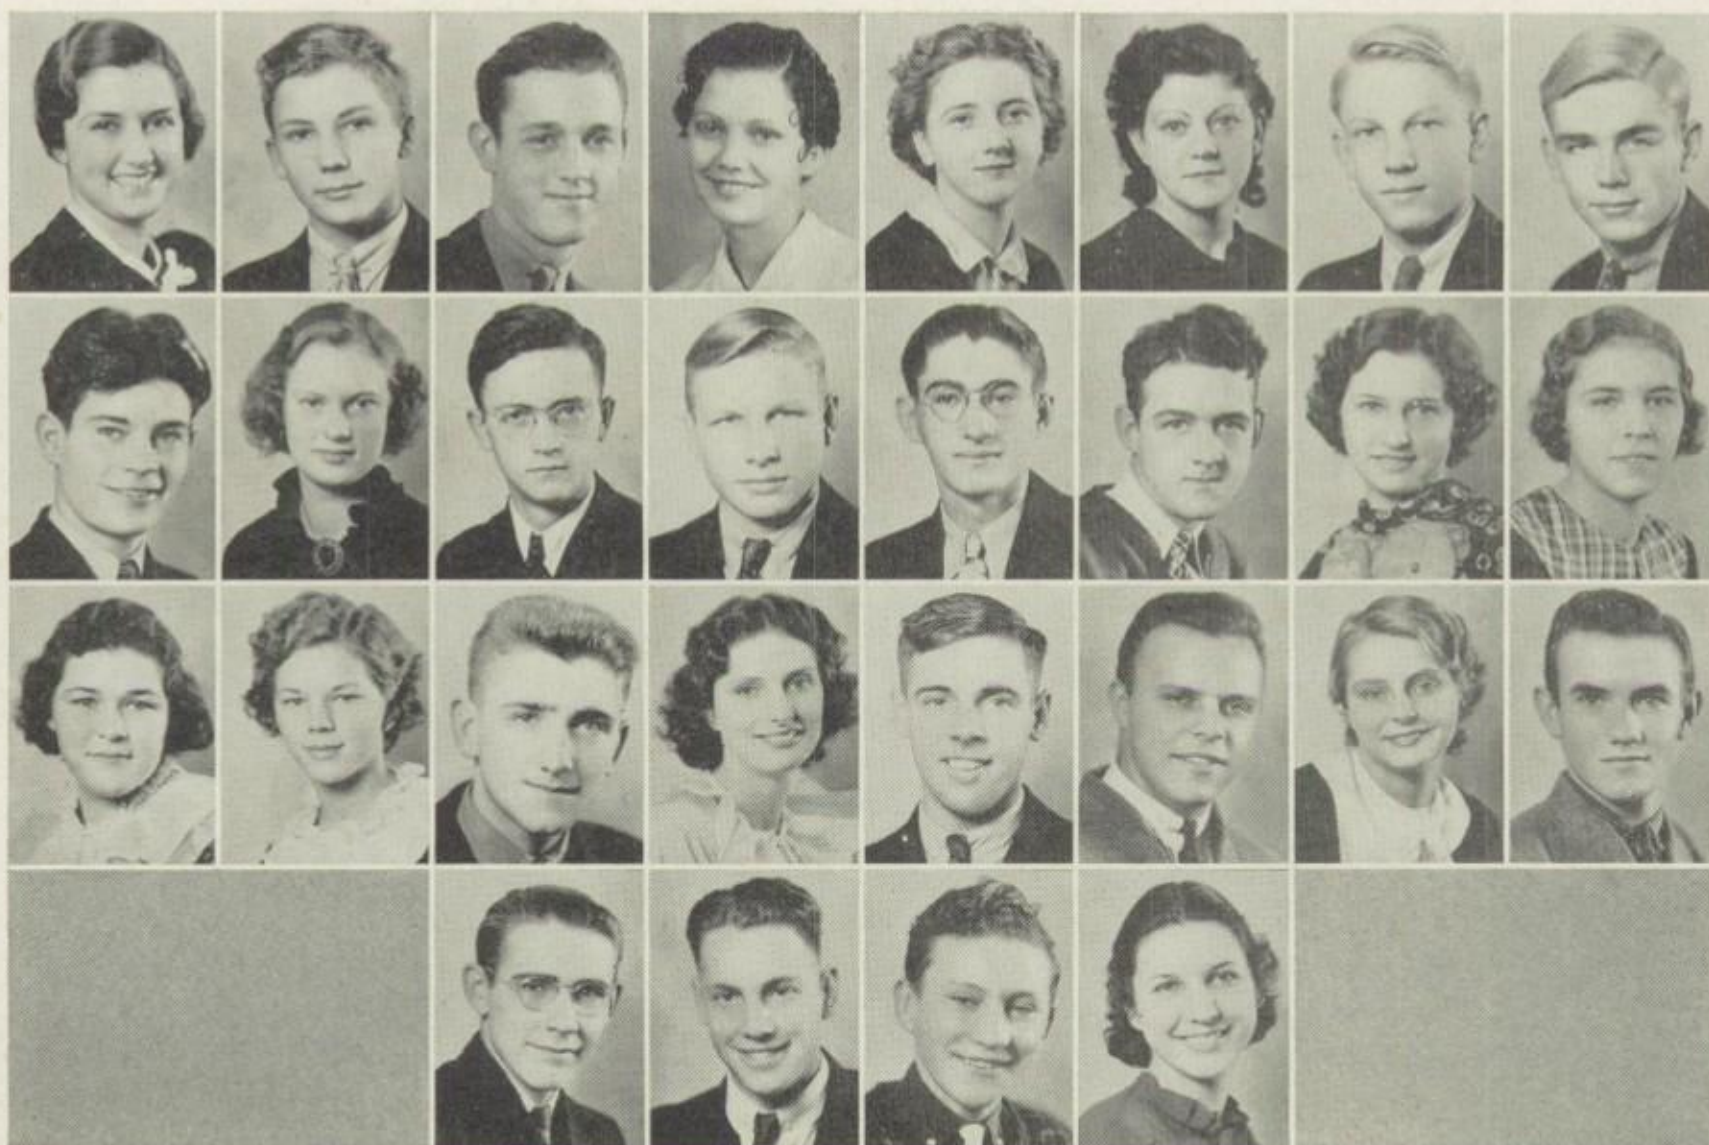

The music department under the direction of Mr. Bradshaw has made much progress this year. The school orchestra and the boys' and the girls' glee clubs have appeared on many community programs. The operetta "In a Kentucky Garden" was given in April.

Back of all this improvement and activity was the progressive spirit of our new principal, Leland C. Keller, supported by the fine cooperation of the teachers, students, and school board. Teachers who came into the school system this year are: Miss Crystal Morton, second grade teacher; Mr. David Nelson, science teacher; and Miss Claribelle Spacht, domestic science and modern language teacher.

ROOTSTOWN TWP.

"Hurry up, Bill! Here comes the school bus." Thus the old familiar warning was sounded to several hundred Portage County boys and girls on the eighth of September, nineteen hundred and thirty-six.

This first warning told pupils that from September until May four orange colored busses would carry them to and from Rootstown School each day.

The same warning also ushered in a very busy year. In the first semester there was seen a full schedule of football games, and the opening games of the basket ball season.

On October the twenty-seventh the elementary grades held "open house" for the parents. On October the twenty-eighth, sixty-five pupils enjoyed the Navy Band Concert given at Kent. The following night all high school pupils and teachers were in their places for night school, to which parents were invited. Halloween parties completed a busy month.

November the twentieth the junior class successfully presented their class play "Depression Blues."

The football banquet was held on December third with Ray Navotny of Kent as guest speaker. A Christmas program by the elementary grades was presented to a packed house, on the day that school closed for a welcomed vacation of ten days.

Semester examinations seemed to be the talk of the school after vacation. Since examinations, various organization of the school have sponsored moving picture shows which have been enjoyed by the whole school.

The Hi-Y club led the drive for supplies for the flood victims. This proved a very successful enterprise. The Junior Red Cross in the school raised considerable funds for the sufferers.

A new musical group has made its appearance in the school this year. It is a junior orchestra with twenty-one members, all of junior high school age. The total number of pupils in elective music groups in the high school and junior high school is one hundred and fifteen.

On March fifth the fourth, fifth, and six grades presented the operetta "The Toymaker." In this same month the high school students staged a minstrel show and the senior class play was given.

April ushered in that much looked forward to event the Junior-Senior Prom which proved to be a very enjoyable event, one to be looked back upon with pleasant memories. April also brought the opening of the baseball season and a full schedule of games.

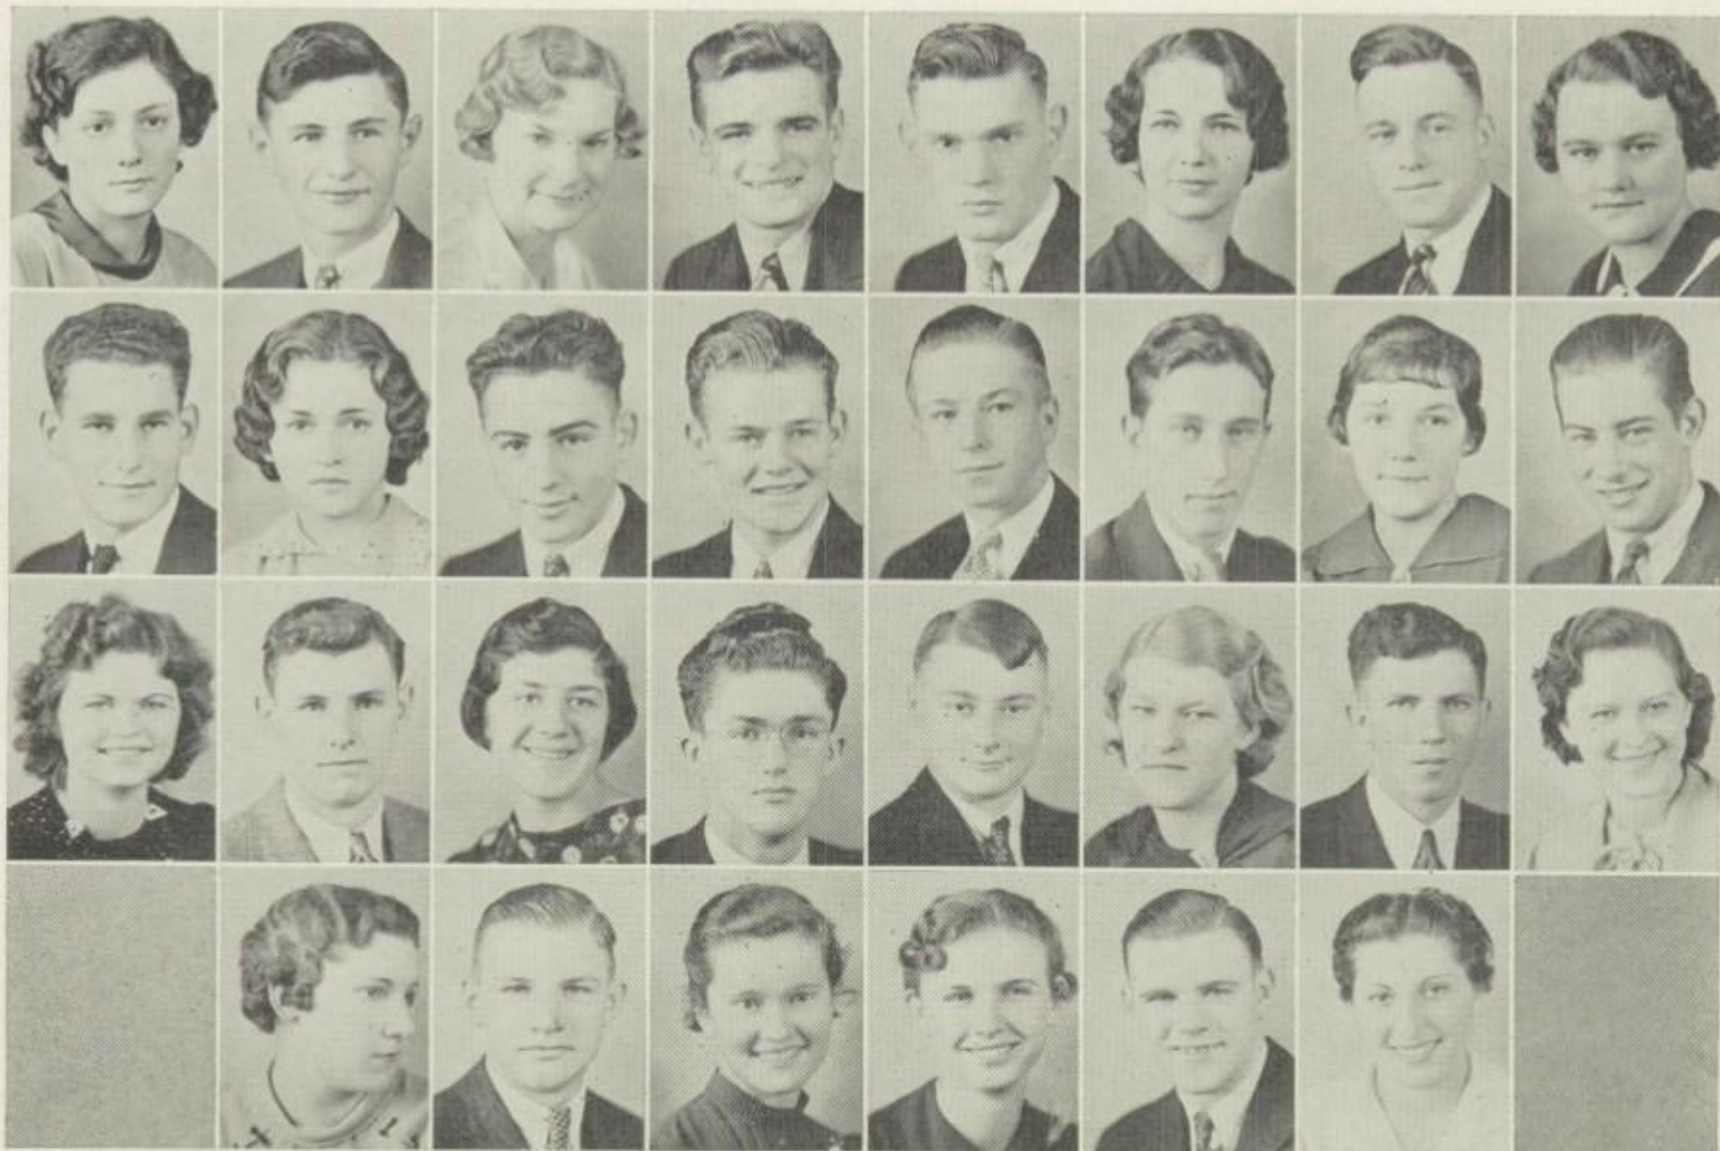

May twenty-seventh brought commencement, the seniors' night of nights.

When the four busses which were previously mentioned made their last trip in May, the curtain fell on another pleasant year in Rootstown School.

Oberlin School of Commerce Made Member of Junior College Association

An outstanding event in the long history of the Oberlin School of Commerce occurred November 27, 1936 when it was made an active member of the American Association of Junior Colleges. This Association is composed of over 600 of the leading schools in the United States offering two-year courses beyond high school, in either academic or technical subjects.

Young men and women of this community are very fortunate to be able to acquire their business training in a school of Junior Collegiate standing, thereby being assured of courses of a more advanced nature, taught by properly qualified teachers, under the most favorable conditions.

This school has for many years held a position as one of the leading schools of business training in this country. Its graduates occupy prominent positions in all parts of the United States.

ON FOOTBALL

Since you are speaking of football, Bill Jones was the greatest nut about football that I ever knew. There was nothing he liked better than a smashing game, the rougher the better. He never asked for easy blocking and gentle tackles. He hoped every opponent would regret the day Bill Jones laid eyes on him.

Cracked ribs always drew gleeful chuckles from Bill. When one of his own men was hurt, Jones always called him a "softie." Nothing was so humorous to him as faces ripped by flying cleats or noses flattened by driving knees. Bill Jones' element was cruel, merciless football. He liked it as a duck likes water.

At the beginning of every game, you could find him on the sidelines in midfield, calmly crunching peanuts and telling the type of strategy he'd use if he were playing.

BRIGHT ANSWERS

The plural of waltz is waltzing.

The plural of Miss Black is Mrs. Black.

Jim Hawkins wanted to leave the block-house because the dead men were lying around grumbling.

Faneuil Hall was arrested for hiding soldiers in her house.

The Tories worked against some one.

Napoleon was defeated in two great battles, the Whigs and the Tories.

Teacher: Why wasn't Martin Van Buren re-elected President?

Pupil: He didn't get enough votes.

Nathan Hale's Last Words — "The British are coming."

A class in history was asked to write their definitions of the meaning of history. Following is one of the answers.

"History is a record of stuff that happened in the past—even back to 1600, and sometimes even behind it. It's a story of everything worth mentioning—like you hit your finger with a hammer 'cept that's not worth mentioning, like a big kidnapping job or a murder."

A straw is something that you drink soda water through two of them.

A fern is a plant that you're supposed to water it once a day, but when you don't it dies, but if you do it dies anyway, only not so soon.

Gasoline is stuff that if you don't use good in your car, it doesn't run as well as if.

TRYOUT

Mr. Chapman was in a bad situation. In fact, it was very bad. He was in love with three girls. He wished to marry one of them, and felt confident that any one of the three would marry him if he could make up his mind which one he wanted.

To Miss Leah Hanson he said, "I am going away."

She replied, "Where?"

To Miss Alice Beardsley he said, "I am going away."

She replied, "Why?"

To Miss Mary Andrews he said, "I am going away."

She replied, "When will you be back?"

Said the preacher, "Mary, do you take this man . . . ?"

Donald McIntyre

CRACKS, WISE AND OTHERWISE

A Scotchman had to send an urgent telegram and not wishing to spend more money than necessary wrote this:

"Bruises hurt erased afford erected analysis hurt too infectious dead." (Ten Words).

The Scotchman who received it immediately decided it was: "Bruce is hurt. He raced a Ford. He wrecked it and Alice is hurt too. In fact she's dead."

Teacher: What is the meaning of ferment?

Jane: Ferment means to work.

Teacher: Give me an example.

Jane: I like to ferment in the garden.
